

No Summer Vacation in Sight for Busy Diefenbaker

OTTAWA (CP)—Prime Minister Diefenbaker apparently has set aside any thought of a personal summer vacation this year.

His office said he has booked engagements no more than 10 days apart that will carry him through what remains of the summer.

His only chance for a break is an extended Labor Day weekend covering the first six or seven days of September.

But no holiday plans have been made, his office said. When Parliament prorogued Aug. 10, Mr. Diefenbaker told reporters he had no plans for a vacation trip until after his cabinet colleagues had a chance to spend some time holidaying.

Mr. Diefenbaker has been at his office every weekday and on some Saturdays since then. He has worked weekends at the prime minister's summer residence at Harrington Lake, 18 miles north of the capital.

Cabinet meetings have been held only on the last two Wednesdays, and one is scheduled for next Tuesday.

A fall opening of the 1961 session of Parliament—likely on Oct. 31—now is being planned to get a head-start on next year's legislative program and committee work. While enough government legislation now is ready to make a busy start for the new session, more bills will be before cabinet for pre-session study in the weeks ahead.

Mr. Diefenbaker verbally accepted an invitation from former premier Kishi to visit Japan this autumn, and the invitation was renewed verbally by the government that succeeded the Kishi administration when it resigned after President Eisenhower's Far Eastern trip.

One of Mr. Diefenbaker's favorite pastimes, in which he has not been able to engage since taking office as prime minister in June, 1957, is duck-hunting in northern Saskatchewan—or, for that matter, anywhere. In the absence of a summer vacation, Mr. Diefenbaker probably is quite aware of the fact the duck hunting season opens here on Sept. 24 and in northern Saskatchewan on Sept. 12.

U.S. Breaks Ties In Campaign Against Trujillo

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The U.S. Friday broke off diplomatic relations with the Dominican Republic, the first time in 42 years it has taken such action against a hemispheric neighbor.

Car Strikes 87-Year-Old

An 87-year-old pedestrian suffered a broken hip at mid-night last night when he was struck by a car at Oak Bay Avenue and Elgin.

Police said Robert Gordon, 2091 Byron, was crossing Oak Bay in the crosswalk when he was hit by the car driven by David Milne, 1007 St. Louis.

Two witnesses told police they were crossing Oak Bay nearby when the driver approached them and slowed down.

"He was watching us cross and probably didn't see the man who was actually in the crosswalk beyond us," they said.

The action followed last week's decision by the Organization of American States that all member countries should sever relations with the regime of dictator Rafael Trujillo.

The aim is to force Dominican reform or lead to Trujillo's downfall. Relations can't be restored until two-thirds of the 21 OAS members vote that the Dominican regime has reformed.

The U.S. recalled about 40 members of its embassy in Ciudad Trujillo and requested that the Dominican mission here go home.

The state department is considering further economic sanctions against the Trujillo regime. Congress may cancel an increase in the republic's sugar quota granted last month after Cuba's sugar imports were reduced.

Chile and El Salvador took similar action while Brazil delayed its move for a few days.

Child Murderer Was Fugitive From Institution

CALGARY (CP)—Convicted murderer Ronald McCorquodale was a fugitive from a Manitoba mental hospital when he bludgeoned 10-year-old Lynne Letourgy to death in a church basement last Nov. 19, according to reports here.

The Calgary Albertan says McCorquodale escaped from the Selkirk, Man., institution in 1953, was never recaptured, and later was written off by hospital authorities as "discharged" and harmless.

When McCorquodale was tried last May for the murder of the Calgary girl his record included the "discharge" from Selkirk but no mention was made of his escape.

The informant said McCorquodale, then 18, was in his fourth year of indefinite confinement when he escaped from the hospital.

NEVER INFORMED

McCorquodale eventually ended up in Alberta at a mental hospital in Ponoka. Ponoka authorities never were informed of his escape from Selkirk.

The Alberta also said it was inconceivable the federal cabinet had been filed and a reprieve granted before the cabinet commuted the death sentence last Friday to life imprisonment. The commutation came less than a week before the originally-scheduled hanging date, Aug. 24.

NOT BEEN INFORMED

This possibility—that the cabinet had not been informed of the motion of appeal and reprieve to Dec. 14—came to light Friday in Calgary when Sheriff G. F. Butterwick told a press conference notices of neither had been sent to the secretary of state as directed in capital cases procedure.

Sheriff Butterwick indicated that "it may well have been" his responsibility to inform the secretary of state.

Four-Month Surplus Swamps '59

OTTAWA (UPI)—The budgetary surplus accumulated during the first four months of the current fiscal year was five times greater than that during the same period last year, it was disclosed last night.

Finance Minister Donald Fleming said in his monthly statement on the government's finances that there was a surplus of $207,800,000 compared to one of $38,400,000 last year.

The difference was accounted for by increased revenue, especially in the personal income and corporation taxation fields, while expenditures remained relatively unchanged.

Revenues during the first four months—April through July—totalled $1,850,700,000 and expenditures $1,642,700,000.

Tunisians Asked to Get Out, Canadians Stalled in Congo

LEOPOLDVILLE (CP)—The Canadian army planned Friday to bring back to Leopoldville a four-man advance signal corps party sent to Lulubourg, where tension is growing between UN troops and the Congolese army. (See also Page 5.)

ASKED TO GO
The Canadians, quartered in a camp occupied by Tunisian UN troops, were unable to prepare for the establishment of a communications station

because of tough Congolese control.

The Congolese plan to move into the Tunisians' camp and have asked them to get out. The UN commander in Lulubourg asked that no equipment be sent in and prepared to fly out the Canadians as soon as possible.

Meanwhile, a U.S. Globemaster, flying additional men and equipment from Trenton, Ont., was more than 36 hours overdue and unreported since it left Canada.

NOT CONCERNED

Air force officials in Ottawa, not yet concerned, said Globemasters often are not heard from for up to 48 hours, depending on their route.

Another four-man advance party of Canadians in Stanleyville found it touch-and-go in their relations with the Congolese. However, the situation now is reported to have improved and the party has been able to start work on communications.

PROVOST CORPS

Nine Canadian provost corpsmen reached Leopoldville Friday to join an international provost company. It will also include 19 Indians and 11 Danes.

PREMIER BENNETT

Premier Blasts Critics

By IAN STREET

Premier Bennett told a capacity audience at the Royal Theatre last night "hundreds of millions" of investment dollars that mean new jobs will pour into British Columbia if Social Credit is returned "with a big vote" Sept. 12.

In his two-hour address, which ranged from a rambling discourse on the achievements of Social Credit over the past eight years to a violent, arm-waving attack on opposition and press critics, the premier made these points:

● The attendance of some 1,460 plus an estimated 200 turned away for lack of seating accommodations shows Victoria needs a new civic auditorium.

● Social Credit is the "largest spark plug to the economy" of any provincial government in Canada.

● Wenner-Gren interests have "never been given a single concession and never will as long as I'm premier."

● The controversial Bill 43 has brought about less strife between labor and management than at any time before in the history of this province.

● Power potential of the Peace River is the only one of four major B.C. sources of hydro power that can be developed in the near future.

● He accused critics of his government of having "no faith in the future of this great country" and lashed out at what he termed the "critics who sit in the scuffer's seat with a pen trying to find new words to hold back development of this province."

● He produced documents to back his statements and tossed them from the stage after inviting members of the audience to "take them and see for yourself."

At the end of his lengthy address the premier still had a full head of steam. But many members of the audience were willing in the stuffy atmosphere of the theatre. Several dozen left before the end and even some of the party faithful on stage stifled yawns and glanced at their watches.

"There's a great deal more I'd like to tell you," said Mr. Bennett. "But time unfortunately doesn't permit. I would say to you all, if you believe

Mile of Lava Slides Along Alaska Valley

KODIAK, Alaska (AP)—Purplish-black lava covered a mile-long 300-yard-wide strip in the valley of 10,000 Smokes Thursday, after old Katmai Mountain began sending up signals again.

In the third volcanic eruption in the area in the last two weeks, mushroom-shaped clouds were puffed from "c" mountain every 15 minutes. Wind carried smoke and dust in a southwesterly direction down the Alaska Peninsula.

Last Monday, an eruption, believed to have been from Mount Trident, sent clouds of smoke and ash 30,000 feet high and blocked out the sun as far away as Kodiak, 150 miles southeast.

China Probe Frustrated By 'Agents'

VANCOUVER (CP)—Commissioner C. E. Harvison of the RCMP said Friday he believes syndicate agents have frustrated police efforts to uncover those responsible for bringing Chinese into Canada illegally.

He said the federal government will have to take a long look at its amnesty-for-truth policy, offered the Chinese some time ago.

"We had expected a rush of Chinese to regularize their status in Canada and escape the slave labor conditions they're forced to accept through fear of being reported or deported," he said in an interview.

Commissioner Harvison felt a syndicate had foiled the amnesty offer by convincing immigrants it was a hoax.

He said the RCMP crackdown would be intensified, promised wholesale arrests.

South Africa to End 'Emergency' Aug. 31

PRETORIA (Reuters)—Justice Minister Francois Erasmus announced Friday the 150-day state-of-emergency in South Africa will end Aug. 31. More than 10,500 persons have been detained under the emergency laws imposed March 30, nine days after 67 Negroes were killed in riots at Sharpeville.

Most of the detainees have been released and the remainder are expected to be freed when the state of emergency ends in five days.

Erasmus said the state of emergency is no longer necessary for the maintenance of law and order.

The regulations already have been lifted in 77 of the 123 districts including all major cities and towns in South Africa.

The Johannesburg Star said it is impossible to ascertain how many persons still are in detention but estimated that nearly all of the 8,600 Negroes held under Regulation 4 have been released.

The repeal of the emergency regulations, which granted sweeping powers to Erasmus and the police, is expected to ease the atmosphere in this Commonwealth country as it prepares for a referendum Oct. 5 on the question of creating a republic.

Views Clash

Soviet-China Feud Flares

LONDON (Reuters)—A Soviet authority Friday warned against any Communist attempts to "export revolution" to African, Asian and Latin-American countries.

The warning highlighted a new clash of views between Moscow and Peking on the Chinese-backed theory that war with the imperialist countries is inevitable.

Soviet academician E. Zhukov, an expert on Asian affairs, issued the warning in the Communist party newspaper Pravda. He was speaking of the peaceful co-existence policy being pushed by Premier Khrushchev despite objections from Chinese Communist leader Mao Tse-tung. Zhukov blasted "hopeless dogmatists" who believe peaceful coexistence is delaying liberation movements in colonial countries.

It appeared from Zhukov's attack that the Chinese have criticized Russia's willingness to support non-Communist leaders of newly-independent nations. He implied Communist China wants to use colonial independence struggles to foment revolutions in each emerging colony.

Zhukov bitterly criticized those who "sniffed" at non-Communist liberation movements.

ALL ABOARD

(Reprinted)

"I MET a man who reads your newspaper column, the other day. Thought you'd like to hear."
"Yes. Good of you to tell me. Who was it?"
"I don't know, but he was quite a fan of yours, that piece you wrote—what do you call it?"
"All Aboard."
"Yes, All Aboard. Frankly, I must confess that I don't read it myself. I'm too busy."
"I'm sorry to hear that."

"That's all right. But this fellow I met—wish I could remember his name—he read your column, anyway. I thought you would like to hear about it."

"I certainly would."
"This fellow doesn't always see the paper. But he was telling me, he just happened to be cleaning out some shelves for his wife, and he found your column under an old jar of pickled walnuts that had gone mouldy."

"Is that so?"
"Yes. And he got tired of cleaning up, so he read your column. He really liked it. So he said to me, 'If you ever see Mortimore, you tell him I really liked that piece he wrote.' So I'm telling you."

"Thanks."
"He told me what it was about but I darned if I can remember now."
"Ah, well, that can't be helped."

"The millennium would be here."
"And then he happened to find another column of yours wrapped around some eggs. He didn't like that quite as much as the first one, but he told me to say hello to you anyway, and keep up the good work."

"Thanks again."
"You're welcome. Why wait until a man's dead to praise him? Tell him some of the nice things while he's still alive. I always say."
"Well, I thought you'd like to hear about that man. Keep writing, Mortimore."

Premier Bennett Blasts Opponents

what has been said here, the facts, spread the good word. Let us roll up a majority that will show the people of southern Vancouver Island want a government that gets things done."

Mr. Bennett scored frequently at the expense of a few hecklers who kept up a sporadic half-hearted barrage of interruptions while he talked. He told them: "You'll vote for me, I know, when the time comes."

TAKE CUE
Applause from the audience was polite and at times enthusiastic, but it lacked excitement. Other speakers and platform guests stood to applaud as the premier was introduced and many in the audience took their cue. At the end of his speech the applause lasted about a minute.

Other speakers at the rally were Socred candidates for Victoria, W. N. Chant, J. Donald Smith and Waldo Skilling; Reeve George Murdoch for Oak Bay; John Tisdalle, Saanich; Herbert Bruch, Esquimalt. Chairman was Noel Murphy, provincial president of the B.C. Social Credit League.

Premier Bennett apologized to the "hundreds" who were turned away from the doors of the theatre and said he didn't like to make political promises at election time. He added: "If this was any other time, I'd say Victoria needs a new civic auditorium."

Launching into an impassioned defence of the Peace River development scheme, Mr. Bennett said "there never was an agreement so good for the people as the Wenner-Gren agreement." He said copies of the agreement may be had by anyone who writes to the premier's office.

FOUR SYSTEMS

The premier said of the four great river systems in B.C. only one—the Peace—is available for immediate development. Two others, the Columbia and the Taku are international rivers and require agreement between Ottawa and the U.S. followed by a treaty signed by both governments.

"Then we've still got to negotiate agreements with the power development groups below the border before we can go ahead," he said. There would be no development of hydro resources on the Fraser until the fish-power problem was solved.

The premier added: "I'm confident that we're going to have power from both the Peace and the Columbia."

ALL EQUAL

Mr. Bennett attacked "those false prophets and poor statesmen" who accused the government of passing Bill 43 to benefit big business. He said: "Social Credit doesn't represent any particular group; every group is equal."

He pointed to the record which showed that in the past eight years the number of jobs in the province has jumped from 428,000 to 550,000—an increase of some 106,000 since 1952.

"This government lets contracts every day... we want people to be employed," the premier said.

CRITICS HIT

He challenged critics of the Peace River scheme and mentioned the Victoria Daily Times specifically when he said "I dare them to show where one cent was given out in special concessions to Wenner-Gren."

Near the end of the rally a paper banner with the slogan "Adolf Wenner-Gren, Vote No, Psycho," was unrolled from the balcony of the theatre. But an elderly Socred supporter neatly tore it down with the handle of his walking stick.

TELLS HECKLERS

Mr. Bennett angrily told hecklers who asked if he'd looked into the war record of Axel Wenner-Gren that the board of directors of Peace River Power Development Company included such names as Lord Tweedsmuir, son of the former governor-general, and Brigadier William Murphy of Vancouver.

"Aren't they patriots like some of the critics?" the premier flung back at the questioners.

MAIN ISSUE

Mr. Bruch said the main issue of the election was whether B.C. should have nationalization or free enterprise development in the next few years.

Bridges and highways built by Social Credit, said Mr. Tisdalle, give lie to the critics who say they are only meant to cover the sins of the government. He added: "The governments we've had in the last 40 years had less blacktop to cover their sins than the bikini in the song."

BEEVE SPEAKS

Reeve Murdoch said he decided to stand for election because "I feel genuinely with in my heart that Social Credit has done more for B.C. in eight years of office than all the governments clear back to Sir James Douglas."

J. Donald Smith drew loud applause when he said introduction of the new B.C. ferries won more friends for the premier among Greater Victoria residents than any other government act.

NEW BLOCK

Mr. Chant said his department will have completed a $400,000 new classroom block for Victoria University from inception to occupancy in about 10 months.

"This is no mean feat," he said.

Mr. Skilling said in "all the annals of B.C." no premier had shown greater leadership or done more for his province than Premier Bennett.

Millstream Girl Queen of Luxton

Barbara Buckley, 12, representing Millstream School, was last night crowned Queen of the 1960 Luxton fair.

She was chosen by popular vote from six contestants. The other girls—Gail Dunn, Loraine Ann Belsky, Gail Mills, Linda Acres and Beatrice Smith—became her princesses.

PIPED ONSTAGE

The six girls were piped onto a stage on the Luxton grounds at 7 p.m. yesterday by Victoria Orangemen. Members of the Luxton Legionettes formed an honor guard.

BIG DAY TODAY

Some 2,000 more are expected today which is traditionally the big day, R. J. Proudfoot, fair manager, said last night.

Tiny Belle Willing, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Willing, 3635 Happy Valley Road, won the Daily Colonist Cup in the annual baby contest, beating 25 competitors.

DOUBLE DANCING

Demonstrations of square dancing by the Colwood Square Wheelers and folk dancing by the Canadian Folk Society, Victoria branch, ended yesterday's events.

Today the fair program will begin at 1 p.m. with the annual parade to the grounds. Premier W. A. C. Bennett will declare the fair officially open at 1:30 p.m.

DAYS' EVENTS

The afternoon program includes exhibitions of Highland dancing, a gymkhana by Colwood Trail Riders, 4-H demonstrations and presentation of trophies.

At 8 p.m. the draw will be held for the door prize, a purebred Shetland pony with saddle and bridle, surplus produce will be auctioned and the fair ball will be held in Luxton Hall at 9:30 p.m.

Whiff, Cough, Weakness —Life Would Be Over

DUGWAY PROVING GROUND, Utah (UPI) — Waging war with the wide variety of nerve-killing or nerve-numbing gasses now in the arsenals of the U.S. and, presumably, Russia would be a terrifying thing.

If the gas were the "G.B." agent demonstrated here for the first time Thursday, death would come quickly. A whiff or a drop of the substance would first produce coughing. Then the legs and arms would weaken. Within seconds, life would be over.

Four goats and four pigeons in test troop installations on a hillside died during the test. Their lives were not sacrificed just for show—data collected will be used by the U.S. chemical corps to improve methods for survival by civilians and soldiers, should a gas attack come.

A fifth goat did survive in a deep hole where air circulation was so poor that he never received an effective dose.

One of the animals survived the initial gassing because he had a mask over his face, but pulled the mask's hose loose and soon was lifeless.

Another gas demonstrated—by herding newsmen volunteers through a cloud of bitter, salt-tasting stuff—was "C.S.," an agent, like "G.B.," whose formula is secret and is referred to only by initials.

"C.S." was developed as a riot control gas—a super tear gas. It didn't bring either death or paralysis. But it quickly produced tears and a chest tightness so powerful that any thoughts of normal conduct were soon lost in a rush for fresh air and relief.

This gas, obviously, could be used in wartime to put a gun crew or other enemy post out of action temporarily. Like the lethal agents, it could be delivered by missile, shell or bomb.

Test conductors, led by Brig. Gen. Fred Delmore, chemical corps research and development chief, said work on gas

U.S. Sending Monkey Up

Capsule Catches Better Next Year

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Lt.-Gen. Bernard Schriever, head of its air research and development command, said Friday the U.S. Air Force plans to launch a monkey into orbit in the Discoverer XVI satellite in October.

Earlier plans to put the first U.S. effort at orbiting a living being into Discoverer XV, due in the next two or three weeks, were changed. The spider monkey, weighing four pounds, and the capsule for its padded couch were not ready.

DOUBT CAST

Gen. Schriever cast doubt on Russian claims that the spaceship which returned a capsule full of animals to earth last Sunday was successfully recovered.

The huge vehicle is probably "a mass of ruins" if it came back through the atmosphere and hit the earth, he said.

Capt. Harold Mitchell, whose C-119 Flying Boxcar recently snatched the Discoverer XIV capsule out of the air, said the air force expects to improve its chances of catching capsules as they return from orbit by replacing C-119s with big C-130 turboprop transports next year.

MORE WEIGHT

The C-130s will be able to retrieve capsules weighing as much as 3,000 pounds, compared with 500 pounds for the C-119.

They also can operate at much higher altitudes because they are pressurized and thus will be able to make more "passes" at a capsule descending on the end of a parachute.

HIS OPINION

Gen. Schriever said it was his opinion the Russian recovery technique was quite similar to the one used with the Discoverers.

He thought the spaceship ejected its capsule full of animals at about 50,000 feet, to be let down by parachute, then probably hit the earth and was destroyed.

Car Dispute Lemon War

TORONTO (CP) — Andy Smith has launched a new attack in his private war with the west-end car lot he says sold him a "lemon."

He paraded up and down in front of the lot with a large sign carrying a picture of a lemon and the word written out in foot-high letters.

Billions In India

NEW DELHI (Reuters) — Parliament gave the green light Friday to India's third and most ambitious five-year economic plans since the nation gained independence 13 years ago.

It approved expenditure of $21,000,000,000 in a bid to speed the country's effort to catch up with the 20th Century. The plan starts next April.

The huge project aims at speeding industrialization and raising living standards for India's 400,000,000 population. The program would create 13,500,000 new jobs, provide free education for every child between six and 11 and offer good roads and clean drinking water to each of the nation's 500,000 villages.

King of the Castle

IT is disturbing to note that the vice-president and all three chiefs of the armed forces of the United States have felt it necessary to boast that their country is the world's strongest military power. In fact, Mr. Richard Nixon went further. He puts the United States ahead of all the rest in economics, science and education as well.

Such utterances can only have one of two purposes: either to dispel any doubts the citizens of the United States may have on the question or to impress the rest of the world with the might of America.

If the former is the case, perhaps such statements are permissible in an election year when tradition establishes that the voter must be reassured ad nauseam that he is the most important man in the most important country and all things are done to his greater glory.

Nevertheless it would be well to remember that such a course can be over-extended to disaster. The Frenchman under the invincible Napoleon learned this lesson, as did the American soldiers of 1812 who attempted to conquer Canada and the proud Imperial troops on the veldt of South Africa at the turn of the century.

This philosophy of superiority is a dangerous one and has consistently led its proponents to ruin from the time of the Caesars to the time of Hitler.

If, on the other hand, these brave words were directed to the outside world, they neither will be welcomed by the allies of the United States who take some small pride in their not inconsiderable achievements, nor by the Russians, who might too easily be persuaded to demonstrate their claim to the same title.

It is plain foolishness to tell any people that the rest of the world is pretty useless in the military field, that it is economically unstable, that its scientific progress lags and that its education system is inferior. Other nations are not big enough to accept this appraisal even if it were true—which it is not. Such statements are just as irresponsible as those made by Congolese Premier Lumumba in recent weeks and just as capable of touching off as much, if not more, trouble.

Surely it is time for the United States to stop piling up such nonsensical chips on its shoulder and childishly tempting someone to knock them off. Someday someone might no longer be able to resist the urge to do just that . . .

Notable Advance

LEST IT SHOULD CAUSE DIS-appointment later it should be made very clear in connection with the B.C. government's plan for the treatment of chronic illness that it does not yet take in the care of all such patients. Only those who can be certified as likely to benefit from rehabilitative treatment to the point of return to normal living and employment will receive the benefit of hospital insurance when the scheme goes into effect on Sept. 1.

Emphasis is placed on this limitation of coverage not with any thought of crying down the social and humanitarian importance of the extension of BCHIS but rather to discourage vain hope which in many instances might result in despondency in those who had to be told that they failed to qualify.

The broadening of insurance coverage will benefit people who through it may be returned to useful, normal lives without the heartening burden of debt for rehabilitative hospital treatment. It perforce leaves out the pitifully infirm who need continual care but whose illnesses have passed into the truly chronic stage offering no possibility of recovery.

There can be little doubt that ultimately a plan of relief will be worked out for them, too. The probability is, however, that it will be kept separate from the present hospital service since incurably chronic illness, including senility, does not properly belong in the category of a scheme of insurance.

Implementation of the "chronic care" plan marks the culmination of prolonged study and consultation by the government and its advisers. The government has been under criticism from time to time for delay in carrying out a promise now several years old, but in fairness it should be remembered that each time the government was on the point of putting it into effect some new technical or financial impediment was discovered.

Late though it may be, this is a notable achievement benefiting not only those with chronic ailments but also—and perhaps more importantly—sufferers from acute illness for whom surgical or medical treatment in hospital has been retarded by insufficiency of bed space. Every bed in a general hospital vacated by a patient transferred to a hospital for chronic cases is a bed made available for another whose life may hang in the balance.

Society Protected

NOTWITHSTANDING the objections of Premier Manning of Alberta, the federal cabinet's order that a reprieved sex murderer shall remain in custody for the rest of his natural life should help to allay the fears of people concerned over the too quick return to liberty of deviates convicted, sometimes repeatedly, of appalling sex crimes.

If it is the intention of the senior government of Canada that the man who murdered a 10-year-old Calgary girl should forever be removed from society, surely the means of carrying out that order can be devised. What Premier Manning seems to be saying is that because there is a problem of jurisdiction as between the national parole board and the provincial mental health service, the man should be hanged.

The Canadian government's disposition of the case of Ronald McCordale appears to be outside the issue of abolition or retention of capital punishment because he is insane, and it is customary for insane persons to be spared execution.

The sentence of death passed by the trial judge was commuted by cabinet decree to the usual one of life imprisonment upon the finding of a psychiatrist that the prisoner is insane and that the state of his mind is so deteriorating as to preclude any possibility of recovery.

Ordinarily "life" may mean as little as 10 years in prison, depending on the behavior of the accused and the impression made on the parole board. It was to obviate the possibility of this incurable psychopath ever regaining freedom that the cabinet order, probably unprecedented, was made. It anticipates as a necessary expedient a revision of the law relating to the handling of sex criminals expected to be made by Parliament in the near future.

If permanent detention of maniacal sex murderers is to become national policy it will go far to relieve public anxiety and that of parents for the lives and mental balance of children in danger of attack. A noted sociologist said recently that too often sex murderers and other criminal perverts whose horrible offences stop short of killing are released for good behavior simply because they have refrained from sexual crime while in prison.

Until this kind of mental disease can be eradicated, if it ever can be, society's first concern must be for the protection of the innocent.

The Tasks in Democracy

(From the Royal Bank of Canada News Letter)

ONE of the great tasks in democracy is to harmonize the principle of equality of opportunity with the fact of inequality in individuals.

Study of the history of mankind will show that complete human equality is compatible only with complete savagery. The levels of attainment depend upon individual capacities and diligence, and since men are unequal in their natural gifts of health, strength, mentality, and motivation they are unequal in their development.

Equality of opportunity in education leaves freedom for development to the peak of a person's mental capacity. Political equality, assuring to every person his status, security and liberties within the State, leaves freedom to hold opinions and express views. Equality before the law leaves freedom to do all acts which are not illegal.

Use of all these freedoms requires effort of the individual. Suppose two men to be equal at night, and that one rises at six to study or work while the other sleeps until nine, what becomes of their equality? Suppose two men to be doing the same job, and that one looks for ways to improve his work while the other is satisfied merely to do his job, what becomes of their equality?

Democracy satisfies the universal urge of men toward self-realization, because it gives scope to the unique character of individuals. It is the only form of society that puts at the very top of its agenda the opportunity of the individual to develop his potentialities.

Historic Step

Sanctions Against a Dictator

By V. S.

SAN JOSE, Costa Rica — The Organization of American States, represented here by the 21 foreign ministers of its member states, has been meeting the most severe test of its existence. If present indications are any guide, it is meeting the test with apparent success.

The problem is two-pronged. First there is the Venezuelan charge against Trujillo's Dominican Republic, and, secondly, the controversy between Cuba and the United States.

The second controversy is not even mentioned in the agenda, but is concealed under four comparatively innocent headings, as follows:

(1) Strengthening of continental solidarity and of the inter-American system, especially in the face of the threats of extra-continental intervention that might affect them.

(2) Inter-American co-operation in accordance with the principles and norms consecrated in the charter of the OAS for the defence of the democratic American institution against the subversive activities of any organization, government or their agents, directed against such institutions.

(3) Consideration of the economic and social factors that give rise to political instability in the hemisphere and intensification of collective action to promote a raising of the standard of living of the under-developed regions in the Americas.

(4) Consideration of the international tensions existing in the Caribbean region, in order to assure harmony, unity and peace in the Americas.

No one, however, is under any illusion as to what is involved. The first part of the proceedings, that dealing with Venezuela and the Dominican Republic, concluded on Saturday night. Trujillo was found guilty on all counts, in spite of the tedious and technical defence put up by his minister of foreign affairs. Venezuela had accused him of fostering, encouraging and directing a revolutionary movement aimed at overthrowing the Venezuelan government, and of backing an attempted assassination of Venezuela's President Betancourt.

The punitive Clause 8 of the Treaty of Rio has been invoked and sanctions have been applied by the unanimous vote of 19 countries. Under the constitution the two disputants are not allowed to vote.

Any idea that the United States dominates the OAS or that it is an effective instrument under present circumstances of Yanqui imperialism has been dissipated by the proceedings here in the last few days, and more particularly by the form of the final resolution spelling out in precise detail the nature of the sanctions to be applied.

The considered recommendation of the U.S., that sanctions as authorized by the treaty be not applied, but, as an alternative, free elections be held in the Dominican Republic under international auspices, finds no place in the resolution.

Free elections in the future are not, of course, ruled out. But it is plain that the Latin American states took the matter into their own hands and are exercising their full authority under the treaty. Presumably the U.S. graciously went along, but what took place in the all-day closed session before a solution was reached is not known. Reasonably well-informed gossip suggests that a few states, possibly including the U.S., were doubtful of the wisdom of a straight-forward application of sanctions as being too harsh an approach. It is not suggested that the U.S. wishes to save Trujillo, but the wisdom of a somewhat softer and more diplomatic approach was talked of in corridors.

The resolution is clean-cut and refreshingly simple, and it falls directly under Clause 8 without any equivocation. Whether it is, in fact, the wisest solution, only time will tell. But when one recalls the woolly-headed fumbling over the vote to apply sanctions to Italy, for its aggression in Ethiopia, by the League of Nations, and Canada's less than distinguished contribution on that occasion the decision here appears to be an historic step forward in the application of the principle of collective security.

The measures are simple and direct:

(1) A breaking of diplomatic relations of all the member states with the Dominican Republic and partial interruption of economic relations, beginning with the immediate suspension of trade in arms and implements of war of every kind. The Council of the OAS in accordance with the circumstances and with due consideration of the constitutional or legal limitations of all and each one of its member states shall study the feasibility and desirability of extending the suspension of trade with the Dominican Republic to other articles.

(2) To authorize the Council of OAS to discontinue by a two-third

Reports from Ottawa

PRIME Minister Diefenbaker's hints last spring about a fall session of Parliament were thought at the time to have been designed to build a fire under a dawdling Parliament.

Now Parliament has cleaned up its business, yet Diefenbaker has again hinted, stronger than ever, that Parliament will be summoned to meet in the autumn.

"There is a possibility that the next session may not be too far removed," he said on the last day of the session. "Circumstances may conceivably require that the next session be not delayed until January."

Several possibilities immediately present themselves.

There is the delicate international situation. There is as yet no agreement on disarmament — "without which," the prime minister said, "mankind today is in greater danger than at any time in its march to better things."

There is the touchy situation in the Congo. Diefenbaker has promised to seek parliamentary approval of any government decision to despatch more than 500 Canadian troops for United Nations' service in the Congo, before the additional troops leave Canada.

Dependent on these matters are decisions on military and civil defence. Should the government strengthen the country's defences by spending additional hundreds of millions of dollars on more modern weapons and equipment? Should the government do more, spend more, to try to ensure the survival of the greatest number of citizens in the event of nuclear war?

As I have pointed out in recent columns, the government also faces decisions on domestic matters which may require parliamentary action before January. For example, action to alleviate the hardships of unemployment, to replenish the unemployment insurance fund, and to require Montreal refineries to process a minimum quota of Canadian oil.

If the 1961 session were to start in October, not only could the MPs dispose of pressing business—they could also get through the Throne Speech debate and other routine business, allowing for an earlier prorogation in 1961.

Prorogation—or dissolution. It is still too early for the PM to make a final decision on a 1961 election. The comparative importance of each factor pro and con waxes and wanes. A fall session will give him additional room for political manoeuvres, if he were to cast the die in '61. Moreover, an emergency big enough to warrant summoning Parliament might also give him what he needs most for an election next year—a strong issue. For example, a worsening of the international situation amid fears of war would be reason enough for the government to seek a renewed mandate.

But in one emergency for which Parliament is constitutionally required—namely, war—the cabinet isn't even agreed that it would be possible to have Parliament meet.

Diefenbaker told the Commons Aug. 10 that "I am sure that if it became necessary, through international conditions worsening . . . Parliament could be convened in a matter of a couple of days."

But a couple of days earlier, Justice Minister Fulton had told the Senate banking and commerce committee that "the next war may be an atomic war, and it may not be physically possible to call Parliament into session."

The Packsack

OF GREGORY CLARK

THE driver of the fast taxi launch in which I was riding to my destination in the Thirty Thousand Islands of the Georgian Bay was a most considerate man who slowed to quarter speed whenever he encountered a canoe or a small boat with women or children in it so that his swell would not embarrass them.

We met a small outboard skiff obviously heavily loaded, and my driver dropped down to five miles an hour for its benefit. As we came abreast of the skiff, I observed that it was a family party of small children and a very fat man, rather hippopotamus-shaped, hunched in the stern. He viewed us as we passed with a blank stare. Indeed there was a slight contempt in his expression. Certainly not a smile or the little wave of recognition of the driver's consideration such as every other craft saw fit to convey.

"You know something?" reflected my driver, as we accelerated to our thirty. "That jolly fat man business is largely a myth. Most of the fat men I have known were cranks; short-tempered, irritable men. The most sarcastic man I know right now weighs about three hundred pounds. I had two fat uncles. They were about as chummy as grizzly bears. Fat women as usually jolly. But now I come to think of it, fat men by and large are crabs."

My driver was a very lean man.

I Can Do Better

By CASSANDRA, from London

THIS column will now be read to the accompaniment of "Anything you can do I can do better."

The last several days have seen the space-race heated up to a cherry-colored red which is the hue that a space satellite or capsule becomes when it re-enters the earth's atmosphere, and glows with the friction of the air.

The air is full of dogs, missiles leaping from the depths of the ocean, balloons as high as a house pretending to be the Evening Star, mice, nosecones being most improbably caught by aircraft trailing nets, flies travelling at 18,000 miles an hour 200 miles above the earth, men in astronautical suits speeding at three times the speed of sound and packets of seeds circling the earth 18 times a day being exposed to cosmic rays.

To each technical triumph in this ludicrous but wonderful, comical but magnificent competition, each opposing side has been replying within days, and sometimes hours, with ever greater and ever more preposterous triumphs.

Moscow gives Washington the old One-Two, and Washington promptly picks Uncle Sam off the floor, who then proceeds to knock Ivan out of the ring.

At the moment the Kremlin is one up.

They got those darn pups down again safely.

You might think that the two most powerful nations on earth, who are so fantastically skilled in these breathtaking tricks, would occasionally look in friendship over the international fence and say simultaneously:

"Nice trick, Bud (Comrade). Maybe we ought to get together sometime?"

Century of Noise

THE 19th century was the last of the quiet centuries.

The 20th century finished all that off with a bang and now at the beginning of the 1960s we are in a roaring crescendo of intolerable sound.

This is the age of noise. Jet aircraft, trains, industrial machinery, cars, lorries, motorcycles and sirens all combine in an appalling symphony of din. Even the people shout at each other—presumably to make themselves heard.

I am told that we can't do much about jet aircraft, but there is one internal racket that could easily be stopped—the unsilenced motorcycle, usually driven by some unhinged loon who expresses his personality on what is, in aural effect, a travelling machine gun.

The unobserved law lays it down that this shattering blast should not occur.

The police, however, seem to do exactly nothing about these machines and the manufacturers don't co-operate in the slightest—with one notable exception. Velocette's produced a nearly silent motorcycle.

I see that in Spain the authorities are now insisting on proper silencers for motorcycles.

If they can do it in Barcelona, why can't we do it here?

Jobs Come First

I do hope that a bylaw to be passed by the city on signs will not result in sign companies having to close down or restrict sign production, which must mean men and women thrown out of employment.

Jobs and livelihoods are far more important to the employees themselves and our economy than too many signs, according to some people—not my view.

Kindergarten for All

Hundreds of Victoria youngsters are no doubt thrilled about the prospect of attending kindergarten this fall and getting a taste of school life, preparing them for grade one next year. But what about the many youngsters who, like my son, have been turned down by the school board because of the severe overcrowding in schools? The situation is so crowded that only those whose birthdays are in the first part of the year may attend kindergarten, while the others who were born later in 1955 are denied this privilege.

Is it fair that some children will have a year's preparation for school while the others will enter school "cold turkey"? If funds are not available for additional space and teachers why not divide the year in half and have the children whose birthdays are from January to June attend five months of kindergarten and those whose birthdays are from July to December attend the last five months' school term? At least it would give a child an insight into school routine and be fairer than the present arrangement.

In short, every child who enters grade one in Sept., 1961, should have equal opportunity and should have equal pre-school education.

If any members of the school board can tell me why this would be impractical I would appreciate hearing from them.

Argentine Guerrillas

All-Out Aid to Peronists
Secret Pledge by Castro

HAVANA (UPI)—Premier Castro was reported by informed sources Friday to have pledged all-out aid to Peronists seeking to overthrow the Argentine government.

The sources said Castro made the pledge at a secret meeting with Peronist leaders Geronimo Remorino, Angel Borlenghi and John Cooke and two unidentified Argentine Communist leaders.

Castro is said to have encouraged the Peronists to redouble their efforts to return to power in Argentina. He is reported to have advised them to form guerrilla groups in the Argentine hinterlands, pledging that Cuba would give them effective aid, including technical advice.

Remorino, Borlenghi and Cooke, former Peron cabinet members, also met Communist leaders from Chile, Paraguay and Bolivia.

A Peron home-in-exile other than the Dominican Republic is understood to have been a condition of Castro's aid pledge. Cooke and Remorino also are said to have consulted with leaders of Peru's outlawed APRA party for an alliance between Peronists, Apristas and Communists for future terrorist campaigns in Argentina.

Assaulting Policeman
Costs $75

Fine of $75 was handed down in city police court yesterday to Kenneth E. Arnold, 332 Ontario, who had pleaded guilty earlier to assaulting a police officer.

In the same court Harry Maat, 1403 Harrison, pleaded guilty to a charge of impaired driving. He was fined $250 and his driver's licence was suspended. Police said his car struck a hydrant early Wednesday at Broughton and Langley.

Larry Montgomery, 633 Cornwall, pleaded guilty in Oak Bay court to a charge of consuming liquor in a public place. He was fined $50.

In Colwood police court David Robinson, 324 Island Highway, pleaded guilty to a charge of carrying firearms without a licence. He was fined $15.

U.S. Official Kicked Out
By Russia

MOSCOW (UPI)—The Soviet Union Friday expelled George Payne Winters, 39, first secretary of the U.S. Embassy, for alleged activities "incompatible with his diplomatic status."

The move against Winters was linked with the 1959 ouster of U.S. Embassy security officer R. A. Langelli, whom the Soviets said then was caught "red-handed" in intelligence activities in Moscow.

The Russians said investigation following the case of "the arrested American agent"—apparently referring to Langelli, but not specifically saying so—established the complicity of other American officials here, particularly Winters.

Get Out, Lumumba Tells UN

LEOPOLDVILLE (AP)—Premier Lumumba said Friday he wants the UN to get its 17,000 troops out of the Congo when the last of the Belgian troops go, supposedly Monday.

The statement represents another sudden turnabout by Lumumba. Only four days ago he had dropped his demand that the UN revise its military operations here.

OWN ORDER

"We will assure order with our own troops and police," the premier said. "We don't want to replace the Belgian military occupation with a United Nations occupation."

Lumumba's newest demand came after rioting Thursday against his leadership. Lumumba had just begun addressing delegates of 12 African nations he invited to a meeting. Police had to fire over the heads of the anti-Lumumba demonstrators to disperse them.

UN SILENT

UN headquarters here had no immediate comment on Lumumba's call. A timetable by Dag Hammarskjöld calls for the last of Belgium's soldiers to depart by Monday.

Lumumba, smiling, said the rioting was insignificant. The rioters had clamored for Lumumba's death in chants and on signboards.

"The Congo is not a paradise," said the premier. "Such incidents happen everywhere." He said the demonstration was the work of the Belgians — "and we know who they are." He again accused Belgium and France of trying to split the Congo's provinces. Lumumba said such activity is directed by a Belgian general staff set up in Brazzaville, across the Congo River in the former French Congo.

Single State?

Federation of two breakaway states in Congo may be near. Belgium reported yesterday that Katanga's Premier Moise Tshombe, above, and Atherni Kalonji, leader of neighboring Kasai mining state, have agreed to federalize.

UN Orders Probe
Of Role in Congo

UNITED NATIONS (UPI)—Secretary-General Dag Hammarskjöld Friday ordered two UN officials into the Congo for an "administrative review" of the entire UN military and civilian operation there.

Hammarskjöld also side-stepped a demand from the former French Sudan to send a UN force to preserve the unity of the infant federation of Mali, formed by a merger of the Sudan and Senegal, now feuding.

Making the review will be Andrew Cordier, Hammarskjöld's U.S. executive asstant, and UN troubleshooter Galo Plaza, former president of Ecuador.

That's why his government closed a ferry line to Brazzaville and cut off communications, the premier said.

Congolese troops airlifted eastward into Kasai province, where tribal clashes erupted, have gained control, Lumumba said.

He hinted his troops will soon deal with breakaway Katanga province, as well.

Crash Victims

Victoria business partners Cecil Arthur Rawlings and Cecil Rhodes, victims of a plane crash last May near Nisnait Lake, left estates with a total value of $237,818, it was disclosed through wills probated Thursday.

Mr. Rawlings, president of C & C Transportation Ltd., left $158,750. Mr. Rhodes, his partner, left $79,069.

BULK OF ESTATE

The former bequeathed the bulk of his estate and household belongings to his wife, Vera Eileen, 75 Cook Street, and his daughters, Jo Anne and Linda Cecille.

His will decreed that in the event of his wife's death his sisters, Mrs. Olive McGillivray and Mrs. Phyllis G. French, should be guardians of his children.

GUARDIAN NAMED

In the event of his wife's death, he decreed that the estate should be divided between the children and that Mrs. Charlotte Saunders should be their guardian.

G. Fitzpatrick Dunn, Victoria accountant, was appointed executor of both wills, acting with National Trust Company in the Rawlings will and with Canada Trust in the Rhodes will.

Forest Firm Orders Repaying Socreds?

POWELL RIVER (CP) — Credit government for issuing the firm a forest management licence this month.

Mr. Colwell told the meeting at this McMillan, Bloedel and Powell River newspaper mill town the orders restricting political activities have been issued at the firm's Vancouver and Alberni operations.

The orders ban campaigning, distribution of posters or literature, canvassing for funds and making of speeches on company premises, even during lunchtime, he said.

The company also has refused to give employees leave of absence to solicit political funds or support candidates and has ordered that shop stewards at its Franklin River camp stop contacting loggers in the bunk houses to discuss politics.

DETROIT — The use of "political missionaries" by the United States to win the confidence of the world's neutral nations has been advocated by Admiral Arleigh Burke, chief of naval operations.

"Ideas are more important in the current defence of the United States than missiles," he said.

Burke predicted that Premier Fidel Castro will not try to seize the U.S. naval base at Guantanamo Bay, Cuba, "because he knows we will fight for it if he tries—and that then somebody is going to get hurt."

"As a matter of fact," Burke told reporters, "we could wipe out Cuba—but what would happen then in the other South American countries? Our prestige would fall, so we want to avoid this solution."

BCE Tie Means High-Cost Power Strachan Charges

By H. L. JONES

PRINCE GEORGE (CP)—"So long as we have a government tied to the B.C. Electric we can never have low-cost power in this province," Robert Strachan, CCF leader, charged here Friday night in opening his northern election campaign.

The young opposition leader, showing signs of fatigue from his hectic campaign for party election Sept. 12, drew 600 persons to the Prince George civic auditorium where two nights earlier Premier Bennett spoke to more than 1,200.

But there was not the heckling that marked the premier's speech. Strachan covered much ground in his 90-minute speech, but dealt mainly with power, declaring:

"The only true way to get power in this province is through public power development. If we require the Peace and the Columbia, then both could provide power at lower cost if they are publicly developed."

Strachan also dealt at length with the proposed $250,000,000 700-mile Pacific Northern Railway line from north of Prince George to the Yukon border to be built by Wenner-Gren interests, saying:

"We were told of the great construction job—a great fare by the premier. . . . (Cheers interrupted the CCF leader at this point.)

SMART GIMMICK
" . . . We want the railroad into the north too but this monorail was just a smart salesman's gimmick. If there is going to be any railway to Alaska it should be a publicly-owned railway—owned either by the Pacific Great Eastern or the Canadian National."

On the provincial sales tax, Mr. Strachan said: "For most of my political life I have disapproved of the sales tax. The fair tax is an income tax."

But, he said, a CCF government would retain the present five per cent sales tax providing that certain items such as food and children's clothing were exempt.

Welcome Goes Awry

PRINCE GEORGE (CP)—Two children who planned to welcome here Friday for CCF leader Robert Strachan made a mistake in identity.

Instead of greeting Mr. Strachan, the children rushed with their "Welcome Bob" placard to one of his travelling companions on a Canadian Pacific Airlines plane—Progressive Conservative leader Deane Finlayson. They straightened it out later.

PLANE STRANDED
Mr. Finlayson flew here by regular airliner after leaving his plane stranded at Penticton Thursday by bad weather.

Travelling troubles continued: plague the Progressive Conservative leader and he was unable to get through to Dawson Creek and Port St. John as planned. He decided to do some grass-roots canvassing here Friday night instead.

Cub Yachts Here Today Fight It Out

Victoria and Seattle Cub class yacht teams will fight out the first heat of an international contest in Cadboro Bay at 10:30 a.m. today.

It will be the first time the event has been held for the Cub class. It may become an annual event, alternating between Victoria and Seattle.

CITY SKIPPERS
Victoria skippers, representing the Royal Victoria Yacht Club, are Denny Coverdale, Peter Townsend, Jack Woodward and Gordon Inglis.

The series of races will consist of four events, sailed in eight yachts with a crew of four to each team. It is hoped three of the four events can be run-off today.

TROPHY MADE
If this is possible it will leave the final event to be raced at 10:30 a.m. tomorrow. A trophy, made by Victoria Cub fleet members, will be presented to the captain of the winning team at 2 p.m.

REGISTRATION of Pupils for Fall Term Greater Victoria Schools

Students entering local schools in September, not registered already, should enroll at the nearest school as follows:

Junior and Senior High Grades (7-12)
August 29th, 30th and 31st—10 a.m. to 12 noon and 1 to 3 p.m.

Elementary Grades (1-6)

B.C. Physically Fit Under Liberals

EDGEWATER, B.C. (CP)—The Liberal party if elected to power would introduce a program designed to make British Columbia lead Canada in physical fitness, Liberal leader Ray Perrault said Friday night.

The program would be designed to assist persons of all ages in communities across the province to "develop their best physical talents."

Mr. Perrault told an election meeting here the program would be in keeping with the views on physical fitness in Canada expressed by Prime Minister Diefenbaker and Liberal leader Pearson.

He said it would likely receive federal financial support.

If elected Sept. 12, the Liberals would call a conference in Victoria of coaches, athletic officials and others interested in recreational activities across the province.

Mr. Perrault said either a department of youth affairs or a special body devoted to physical fitness would be established.

HAROLD WINCH

Harold Winch:

Make Parliament Work for People

Parliament, the greatest instrument for society ever invented, has been used for profiteers, now lets make it work for the people, Harold Winch, (MP—Vancouver East) said last night.

Mr. Winch was speaking in support of CCF Esquimalt candidate Geoff Mitchell at a meeting in Sooke Community Hall.

Speaking to an audience of 100 he said he couldn't attend Mr. Bennett's meeting in Victoria, because he wanted to listen to a better man (Mitchell).

"We are missing something however, the last opportunity to see B.C.'s most versatile politician—a Conservative, a coalitionist, an independent, and a Secord—as premier of the province," he said.

Speaking of care for chronics, Mr. Winch said the Social Credit government has used the same promise in two elections, but have done nothing until now.

"How do you like being bribed like that? They have been double-crossing you for two years because the federal government has been willing to pay 50 per cent of the chronic care for two years."

The provincial government has never approached the federal government for help in chronic treatment, he said.

"This is neglect—it is more—I call it political immorality."

He accused Social Credit of calling CCF policies impossible, and defined impossible as "those things that have not yet been done."

Replying to a question "would forest management licences be revoked under a CCF government?" Mr. Winch said if the licence was got by a bribe the company would have to give good reason why they should keep it.

Rampaging Bear 'Whumped' To Save Zoo Keeper's Life

PENNDIEL, Pa. (UPI)—Zoo owner Bernard Bertollet battled a 700-pound Canadian black bear with a wooden plank yesterday to save the life of a zoo keeper.

Charles Poppa, 66, entered the bear cage at the Outdoor Storybook Zoo near this eastern Bucks County town, Bertollet said. Poppa apparently forgot to lock the seven-foot tall black bear and a brown grizzly in a safety enclosure beforehand.

"I didn't know he was in there," Bertollet said. I was about a half mile away when I thought I heard Charlie screaming. That big black bear was on top of him, chewing and clawing.

"I picked up a big two-by-six on the way in and whumped the bear as hard as I could, and he wouldn't move, so I hit him again and finally he backed off."

"I socked him another good sock right on the head. He went for me then."

"A stranger (visitor) with his kids was standing outside. He opened the cage door so Charlie and I could back out. The stranger used his handkerchief and a stick to make a tourniquet.

"There was blood all over, inside and outside the cage."

When they got outside the cage, Bertollet gave Poppa two shots of liquor and put him in his car.

Bertollet then sped five miles to hospital with the gas pedal to the floor, one hand on the steering wheel and horn and the other holding the tourniquet to Poppa's badly mangled leg.

Poppa was reported in satisfactory condition. Bertollet said doctors would attempt to put plastic veins in his leg so it would not have to be amputated.

Strait-Jacket Seen If CCF Winner

VANCOUVER (CP)—Greater Vancouver Social Credit candidates Friday night predicted big problems for the people of B.C. should the CCF party come to power in the Sept. 12 provincial election.

Burnaby candidate Tom Irwin, former speaker of the legislature, said the election is "a battle between socialism and free enterprise." Should socialism win, the province would be "tightly laced in an economic strait-jacket."

Running mate Dr. H. H. W. Byerstein said the CCF-labor merger could only result in labor taking the upper hand in the party.

The merger is faced with two opposing ideologies, the CCF element standing for a socialist takeover of industry and the labor element demanding the right of free bargaining with employers.

Anyone Can Lose $937,050 Cheque

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (UPI)—The messenger who lost $937,050 belonging to Sacramento County Thursday has been told that it could happen to anyone.

"Besides," asked County Treasurer Ray Houston, "what am I supposed to do—take it out of his pay?"

Messenger Paul Bender was delivering a cheque for that amount when it dropped from his pocket. A pedestrian found it later and returned it to Houston.

Impairment Thrown Out

DUNCAN—County court Judge A. H. J. Swensky of Vancouver quashed a conviction of impaired driving against a Victoria businessman here yesterday, who chided him for contradicting police evidence.

Joseph E. Garner, 51, a logging operator, had been fined $150 and had his driver's licence suspended for 30 days upon conviction in police court Aug. 2.

Judge Swensky said there was a doubt in his mind Garner was impaired, but "on the other hand, I am disappointed in the accused in flatly contradicting the police testimony."

Death of Danish Cyclist Mars Olympic Opening

By JACK SULLIVAN

ROME (CP)—The sunstroke death of a Danish cyclist marred the first full day of sports in the 1960 Olympic games — a whirl of competition that produced two Olympic records in women's swimming and the first two gold medals, both captured by host country Italy.

Canadians squeezed into semi-final and final brackets in a few of the swimming events — and the diving — and one canoeist paddled his way out of elimination.

A 16-year-old California high school girl, Chris Von Saltza, and Wiltrud Urselmann of Germany were the record-breakers in Olympic pool.

The blonde Miss Von Saltza won her 100-metre freestyle heat in one minute, 19 seconds, breaking the former Olympic mark of 1.02 made in Melbourne four years ago by Dawn Fraser of Australia.

Miss Urselmann set her record in the women's 200-metre breaststroke, winning her heat in 2.52 and bettering the old record of 2.53.1, made also at Melbourne by another German girl, Ursula Happe.

The first two gold medals of the games went to Italian cyclists. Italy's team won the 100-kilometre 62-mile team road race and Sante Garadoni won the 1,000-metre time trials.

Dick Pound of Montreal and Mary Stewart of Vancouver remained survivors in the swimming competitions. Pound qualified for today's final in the 100-metre freestyle and Miss Stewart qualified for the women's 100 freestyle semi-finals today.

FAIL TO QUALIFY

Two Vancouver girls failed to make qualifying berths. Margaret Iwasaki missed out in the 100-metre freestyle and Judy McHale in the 200-metre breaststroke.

Irene Macdonald of Kelowna spoiled a brilliant performance by making a poor fourth dive — her last — and placed ninth on points. She was leading the field of 18 when she flubbed her dive, but she easily qualified for today's semi-final.

Pete Rabinovitch of Montreal, only Canadian entered in the men's 200-metre breaststroke, was eliminated in a preliminary heat.

Rome's blazing sun caused the death of 23-year-old Knud Eneemark Jensen, who collapsed after completing the 100-kilometre team road race and died two hours later in hospital.

His cycling teammates immediately withdrew from all further events, but Denmark's other competitors decided to continue in competition.

Jensen was reported to have died from a brain hemorrhage as a result of the sunstroke. His partner in the race suffered a comparatively minor sunstroke but must remain in hospital.

They Laughed at Canada In Olympic Cage Series

VANCOUVER (CP)—A member of Canada's ill-fated Olympic basketball team says opposing players "almost laughed in our faces" because of the way the Canadian team was handled.

Al Birtles of Summerland made the complaint Thursday when he and John Kootneko of Alberni arrived here from Rome, where the Canadian basketball team was eliminated in preliminary play. They had joined 10 members of the Tillsonburg, Ont., Livingstones in forming the team.

"They almost laughed in our faces because they thought we were so stupid," Birtles said. "If we had decent coaching we'd still be there."

He explained that coach Elmer Ripley, a 72-year-old American, didn't employ an effective zone defence against the fast-breaking European teams.

"The Hungarians asked us why we were doing stupid things like not using the zone," said Birtles. "They were laughing behind our backs."

Canada had a 33 record in preliminary Olympic play and finished seventh in the eight-team round, ahead of Israel. Birtles said Ripley didn't even scout the opposition.

"The other teams had us pegged after 10 minutes of each game. We just couldn't break their zones and they tore us to shreds with their speed and man-to-man offence."

Relief pitcher Rod Turner put out a ninth-inning rally by Chinese Students last night to save a 9-8 victory for Morrisons and sent his club into the Heywood Avenue Park senior "B" men's softball final.

Trailing, 9-6, Students pushed across two runs in the inning and had the tying and winning runs on base with two out. However Turner struck out Terry Lore to end the game and give Morrisons the best-of-five semi-final series, 3-1.

Morrisons open a best-of-seven final against Navy Sunday at 6 p.m. In the afternoon game, Pro Pats play MacNutt's in their best-of-seven "C" final game.

There was a bit of electrifying news in the Canadian camp Friday when word came that the 10-second mark for 100 metres made last month in Saskatoon by sprinter Harry Jerome of Vancouver had been given official recognition as a world record.

Don Stringer of Dorval, Que., missed automatic qualification in his heat in the 1,000-metre Canadian singles of the canoeing competition, but he went into the repechage — second-chance phase — and won his heat there to avoid elimination.

The day's boxing news for Canada — and particularly for Gabriel Mancini — wasn't good. The Montreal featherweight met a tartar in left-hander Shinsuke Suzuki of Japan and lost a unanimous decision.

The Montrealer twice slipped to the canvas in the lively contest in which both fighters were warned for holding. Mancini was penalized a point when he repeated the offence in the third round.

Television coverage of the Olympic Games will be seen tonight at 11 p.m. on channels 7, 11 and 12, featuring yesterday's diving, women's 100-metre freestyle swimming heats, and soccer and boxing eliminations.

Vancouver's Coach Sharp with Needle

VANCOUVER—Coach Bobby Marsh returned to the playing ranks here last night and needed his Vancouver club back into contention in the Western Canada lacrosse final with a 14-9 victory over Nanaimo.

Marsh, who played only seven games as his club won the regular-season title, got in strip again after watching his club play listless lacrosse and lose the first two games of the best-of-seven final. He promised he'd wake them up, and did just that with two goals and an assist.

With Marsh prodding them on, Vancouver jumped into a 2-0 lead in the first quarter of a fierce-checking game witnessed by a crowd of 2,600. The clubs split eight goals in the second quarter, and the speedy Vancouver club opened up a 12-6 lead in the third quarter.

Vancouver played the fast-breaking, hustling game that led them to the league championship, and got solid backing from goalie Stan Joseph. Joseph blocked 21 shots, but had to yield goaltending honors to Nanaimo's Fred Fulla. The portly Nanaimo veteran kept his club in the game in the first quarter as he kicked out 13 shots, and finished with a total of 28.

The game was marked by odd plays and intriguing officiating. The teams played it close to the vest for the first half, before Vancouver broke out.

The veteran Nanaimo squad, seemingly worn down chasing the fleet Vancouver side, switched tactics in the third quarter and played a waiting game. It cost them the match.

Before the Islanders knew what happened they trailed 12-6 and never caught up.

FAN FARE Walt Ditzert

Seattle Rainiers opened a four-game Pacific Coast League baseball series in Vancouver last night by defeating the hometown Mounties, 9-5.

First-place Spokane Indians hosted Portland and beat them, 5-2.

Benny Valenzuela hit a two-run homer, his first homer of the season, in the bottom of the ninth to give Tacoma Giants a 4-3 victory over Salt Lake City Bees.

Aging Ben Wade choked off a Sacramento rally in the eighth inning as the visiting San Diego Padres won 4-3.

Perfect 100 Wins Traps

VANDALIA, Ohio (AP)—Roy N. Foxworthy of Indianapolis ended a 16-year absence from trap-shooting Friday by winning the sport's greatest event, the 61st Grand American Handicap.

The 31-year-old father of four outshot 2,431 other marksmen from all parts of North America with 100 straight from 20 yards. It was the first perfect score in the event in 10 years.

The best score among the 50-man Canadian contingent was turned in by Harry Willis of Montreal, who broke 96 out of 100 from 21 yards.

Yankees' Power Keeps Them First

New York Yankees opened their make-or-break weekend with a burst of power to win two games from Cleveland Indians yesterday, but the grim and stubborn Baltimore Orioles refused to give ground in the battle for the American League pennant.

While the Yankees were beating the Indians, 7-6, and 7-5, the Orioles downed the Yankee farm club, Kansas City, 2-1.

and 11-3, to stay just one game off the pace. Chicago White Sox beat Boston, 9-2, but lost half a game and are two games out of it.

Five home runs, two by Yogi Berra, were enough to win the opener, with Berra's second blast providing the winning run in the 11th inning. Then the Yankees scored two unearned runs in the seventh to win the night game on a throwing error by Ken Aspromonte as he tried to cut down the tying run at the plate.

It was a promising beginning for a long haul for New York which plays Cleveland twice again today and then faces Detroit Tigers in a Sunday doubleheader.

Baltimore won its first game in typical Oriole sacrifice, scoring both runs on sacrifice flies as Steve Barber won his ninth game with a four-hitter. Then the Birds teed off for 16 hits and got a one-hit, six-inning relief chore from Hoyt Wilhelm.

DROVE IN THREE

Luis Aparicio drove in three runs for the White Sox, who backed Frank Baumann with 12 hits to give him his ninth win.

Pittsburgh Pirates lost another game of their National League lead yesterday. It was cut to five and one-half games when they lost, 3-1, to St. Louis Cardinals and the Braves edged San Francisco Giants, 3-2.

Stan Musial's two-run homer in the seventh inning gave the Cards their margin and beat Bob Friend. It was Musial's first homer since Aug. 11 when he beat Friend. Both the Bucs and Friend have now lost two straight, and Friend is 13-11 for the season. Ernie Broglio won his 16th with a four-hitter.

SPAHN WINS

And while Musial was ruining Pittsburgh, another veteran was leading the onrushing Braves. Warren Spahn tossed an eight-hitter at the Giants, and beat them with a home run in the seventh inning. He struck out 11 to win his 16th game.

Los Angeles Dodgers won two from Cincinnati, 10-1 and 2-0 on "Duke Snider Night" at Los Angeles Coliseum. Roger Craig pitched a five-hitter in the opener and Norm Larker drove in five runs with a homer, a double and two singles. Don Drysdale won the second with a four-hitter.

Philadelphia Phillies, bidding to escape the league cellar, beat Chicago Cubs, 4-2, on a three-run, inside-the-park home run by Lee Walls.

In the other American League game, Washington beat Detroit, 5-4, on Jim Lemon's 30th homer.

Just Thick with Steelhead

The summer steelhead are now so thick in the San Juan River, about six miles from Port Renfrew, that you could almost walk across the river on them at the Crossover pool.

At the Crossover pool, which is so named locally because about one-quarter mile downstream there is a cable with a bosun's chair running across the river, we looked into the deep pools and could see 20 or 30 steelhead swimming about in each pool—sleek, green-looking steelhead and in the crystal-clear water we could make out every bright black spot on their backs. It was a site to tantalize every sports angler, and we were no exceptions.

They weren't as easy to catch as they were to see, but fishing partner Jack Lenfesty did land a 4½-pounder... a bright silver specimen... and lost a bigger one after a 15-minute fight at the end of which it wrapped the six-pound test line around a branch and broke away. He even stripped down and dived in to try to release the hook. We got several other good bumps, but they didn't hold.

There have been some good steelhead taken from the San Juan in the last couple of weeks, but fishermen and swimmers have spooked them so much that they are really black spot on their backs. It was a site to tantalize every sports angler, and we were no exceptions.

Fish Facing Doom At Langford Lake

Death will come quietly Wednesday to all the fish in Langford Lake.

It will come in the form of a liquid mixing milky with the water of the lake. About three-quarters of an hour after a boat begins to pour the liquid into the lake, the first of the catfish, sunfish and comparatively few small-mouth bass will float to the surface.

TWO YEARS

In about three hours, the whole fishy population of the lake is expected to be dead. Then the waters will lie uninhabited for a period—perhaps as much as two years—before a new population of small-mouth bass, with no catfish and no sunfish, is introduced.

The liquid to be used in Langford is toxaphene, and a strong application will be needed to destroy the coarse fish. That, regional fisheries biologist David Hurn said yesterday, is why a wait will be necessary before the lake is restocked, "but the ultimate quality of fishing in the lake will be well worth the wait."

The treatment will not affect the lake for swimming and boating purposes, he said. Nor is it expected to have much effect on algae.

COSTLY PROCEDURE

Florence Lake nearby will also be cleared of coarse fish in the same program. There, however, the much more costly rotenone will be used to poison the fish. Rotenone clears away more rapidly, early restocking will be possible, and Florence Lake will provide small-mouth bass for Langford when Langford is ready.

The recreation and conservation department also plans to clear Green Lake, Babsy Lake and Beaver Lake on Newcastle Island within the next month. Recreation Minister Earle Westwood announced, to eliminate blue-gilled sunfish and other coarse fish.

These fish have been introduced by careless anglers, a department official said.

"Some anglers don't seem to know it's against the law to use live bait," he said. "When they are through fishing, they throw their bait into the water. That's bad practice, and using live bait is against the law."

Mr. Hurn will direct Wednesday's operation, and will be assisted by game wardens Jack Lenfesty and Bill Fowkes.

MONTREAL—Dave "Super" Mann lived up to his nickname with a super 67-yard kick in the fourth quarter.

Rote, 11-year veteran of the National Football League, added to his amazing record with four touchdown passes, 64 yards and 54 yards to Mann, 53 yards to Ochlen and 31 yards to Dick Shatto. He has now passed for all 12 over Montreal Alouettes and Toronto touchdowns and completed 65 of 112 passes for an amazing total of 1,151 yards in three games. Rote had five intercepted last night, but still completed 15 of 32 for 368 yards.

Dixon, rookie halfback from the finest games here in Bridgeport College, took a pass from Sam Etcheverry for one touchdown, ran 43 yards for another, and plunged two yards for another after setting it up with a 72-yard gallop. He gained 194 yards on 13 carries for a 14.9 yard average and caught five passes for another 19 yards.

Check Your Ladder!

By M. V. CHESNUT, FRHS

The fruit-picking season always brings with it a rash of nasty accidents, most of them preventable and nearly all of them attributable to the careless use of ladders. I had the living daylight scared out of me a couple of years ago when one of my good neighbors went to hospital with a broken shoulder blade, and since that time I have become a regular old woman over the use of ladders.

Far too many family ladders are elderly pensioners which should have long since been chopped up for firewood. A good ladder costs money, it is true, but not nearly as much as an accident. I do think it pays to make a very critical inspection of the ladder before the picking starts, making sure every single rung is in a sound state of repair. Beware of cracks in the sides of the ladder, too, as well as in the rungs.

Always set the ladder into the tree so that, if the supporting branch should break, the fall will be checked by the trunk or another stouter branch. Set the ladder fairly close to upright, as this reduces the strain on the supporting branch. Make sure the foot of the ladder is spiked firmly into the ground, for a very common cause of accidents is a sudden twist, so that one leg of the ladder is off the ground.

Treat plum and cherry trees with the greatest respect, for the wood is very brittle and a two- or three-inch branch can break without any warning at all. Pear trees are less dangerous but still not too reliable. Apples, unless the wood is clearly dead, will very rarely let you down. You can take a chance with small branches and thereby reach the most elusive fruit if you make sure there is a stronger branch behind it to check the ladder's fall. Always look to see where the ladder tip would fall if the supporting branch should break.

Never hang the sling of your bag around your neck. If you do fall, you are less likely to break your neck if one arm is through the sling, with the weight taken by the shoulder rather than the neck. Safer still, hang the bag or basket from a rung of the ladder or from a convenient branch, using an S-shaped wire hook.

Remember the old sailor's motto: "One hand for the ship and one for yourself." Reach well up and hold by a rung, not the side of the ladder. Then, if a rung should break or your foot slip, the sudden strain will not break your grip. For preference, wear boots with a strong and rigid sole. Leather is better than rubber and boots safer than shoes.

Talking to professional pickers in Kelowna last summer, I found them to be of divided opinion as to whether it is best to start picking at the bottom or top of the tree. One group holds that if you begin at the top, your bag will be the lightest where the danger is greatest.

The majority, however, felt that it is better for the fruit and for the tree to start with the bottom fruit, as there is less likelihood of damage to branches and fruit on a heavily laden tree caused by the picker climbing up and down. Moreover, the ladder settles more firmly as the picker works upward and he acclimatizes himself gradually to height.

It's About Time

For Good of TV

Moral Awakening on Way?

I was reading a book review the other day of a new novel, "Winter Solstice," by Gerald Warner Brace (which I shall certainly read immediately), and I was brought up short by a quotation from the book.

"These defeated well-born New Englanders record with acrid precision their own day-to-day destruction. The 62-year-old head of the house, once a free Vermontor and now a tippling university janitor, is watching television:

"If I could live with myself I'd turn the damn stuff off, but I need the racket... If that machine gives a reasonable facsimile of this nation... then I tell you we are doomed. What we fatuously refer to as the great American way of life is nothing but sex, salesmanship, and permanently arrested development."

That is a corrosive and penetrating quote for many reasons. For one thing, it recognizes that television is a form of dope addiction, consciously used by Madison Avenue for its cynical purposes, constantly increasing the national neuroses and weakening the national moral fiber. And, if we continue along this line of absolute self-indulgence, we are truly, truly doomed.

But there is a great ray of hope in that bitter speech and it is the simple fact that it was written at all. All around me I hear a mounting chorus of self-criticism, of national probing, which I think is a harbinger of great improvement.

You cannot correct a condition until you recognize that it exists. The rising tide of self-criticism is a great step forward. For many, many years, it was not only unfashionable but downright treasonable to criticize the American way of life. Under this immunity from criticism, hideous immoralities began to fester and grow as they always do.

But the signs of self-dissatisfaction are everywhere. Even "Reader's Digest," bless my soul, has come out with an article attacking conformity and praising (as the truly American way of life) non-conformity and the critical spirit.

The whole tenor and purport of Sen. Kennedy's acceptance speech at Los Angeles is refreshingly different in a most heartening way. Sen. Kennedy didn't quite offer "blood, sweat, toil, and tears," but he clearly called for a tightening of belts and the flexing of muscles. The fact that hard work and self-discipline is considered politically expedient indicates a great change in the national mood. Frankly, I greatly doubt that Sen. Kennedy would have embraced such Spartan dogma if he didn't think it politically popular.

It's a straw in the wind. There are many of them. One very encouraging sign is a deep questioning of polls, surveys, and the whole machinery and philosophy of surveys and research. To me, the polls take democracy up the ultimate blind alley to mob rule. It's Dr. Gallup asking a blind man what color he prefers and then sticking the rest of us with it.

But even if it were possible to find out what the mob wants, it's an immoral way to run a country or an industry or an individual. Perhaps I'm optimistic, but I think there's a great moral awakening in the U.S., a great thirst for a national sense of right and wrong. The television industry above all else has pursued the myth of popularity right into the ground.

Hollywood Today

Marriage on the Rocks

HOLLYWOOD (NANA)—The "no divorce" statement from Laurence Harvey sounds a bit thin, what with his every-day and evening dates with Joan Cohn, widow of Harry, late top executive of Columbia. But Larry is now returning to London for start of "The Eddie Chapman story" spy thriller. And if Margaret Leighton will sit tight and do nothing, I believe she can save the rocky boat of her marriage.

Buster Keaton is back from chasing pirated prints of his old comedy hits in Europe. Hollywood companies find it hard to catch up with the purloined pictures behind the iron-curtain countries.

Shirley MacLaine is the celebrity in London this week, passing through en route to Venice to appear at the festival there with her smash hit, "The Apartment." Did you know that Shirley was in Hollywood for years before hitting the jackpot of fame? She became successful when a publicity genius advised her to be a "character."

Same for Marilyn Monroe, who was minus lip, wriggle and blonde bleach during her unsuccessful years at Columbia. You have to be different to succeed in Hollywood. The sweet-looking girls don't get very far. Big exception is Doris Day.

Mrs. David Niven chipped a bone in her foot, playing the "dangerous" game of croquet!

David Merrick is bringing the London play hit, "The Long, the Short and the Tall," to Broadway. Laurence Harvey starred in the movie. But it looks like the play originator, Peter O'Toole, for New York. Peter, who found fame with the play, has been doing Shakespeare at England's Stratford-on-Avon.

Sir Laurence Olivier and Vivien Leigh have already split the profits from the sale of their Notley Abbey home. Have you noticed that Sir Larry's wife-to-be, Joan Plowright, looks somewhat like Glynis Johns?

My informant who told me that Tuesday "Lolita" Weld is getting ready to give John Ireland a big welcome when he returns to Hollywood next month, does not know the facts. John is madly in love with the almost ex-Mrs. George Cameron, and when I saw him in London a couple of weeks ago, they were planning to marry.

It took four hours in the beauty parlor for Barbara Rush to make the switch from brunette to blonde. A blonde Barbara takes getting used to. She is still trying to gain weight. The trouble with dieting for a long time is that it can run away with you, and you get too thin.

British actress Maritza Hunt was asked to appear on Canadian television. But she refused to travel on the tourist plane ticket offered. They wrote that Dame Edith Evans had travelled tourist. "I can believe that," Maritza cabled back. "With her constitution she can swim the Atlantic and give two performances."

Thought That I Would Never See

Sapling Won't Make A Sap Out of Tony

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Poetically paraphrased, here's how rubbish collector Tony Augustyn feels about a $108.64 bill he got from the county for replacement of a tree damaged by one of his trash trucks:

I thought that I would never see
That many guys just for one tree,

A treelet planted to replace
One they claim I did deface.
A tree worth but a buck or two
To plant needs not a 10-man crew;

So if they want a cheque from me
They'll have to plant a bigger tree.
He's not going to let a sapling make a sap of him, says Tony.

In short, he's not paying.

The county replaced the damaged, 18-foot eucalyptus with a sapling pepper tree. Tony got this bill:

"To cover cost of removal and replacement of parkway tree knocked down at 5445 W. 118th Street—

"1 schinus terebinthifolia, $2.50; 1 redwood stake, 55 cents; 1 tree trimmer foreman, 1 hour, $5.34; 1 tree trimmer subforeman, 3 hours, $14.39; 3 tree trimmers, 7 hours, $30.20; 3 tree laborers, 8 hours, $29.47; 1 truck driver, 1 hour, $4.08; 1 truck driver, 3 hours, $13.63; 1 truck m-1777, 14 miles, $2.62; 1 relief truck, m-1877, 6 miles, 64 cents; 1 car, 5 miles, 70 cents; dump fee, $4.43;—Total, $108.64."

The county parks and recreation department says it'll take the case to court. A spokesman said the bill is reasonable.

"That man will just have to pay, that's all." Tony says they can go climb a tree.

U.S. Visitors Here Sunday For Picnic

Mrs. Pauline Winther, president, and members of the Port Angeles Business and Professional Women's Club, together with the Washington State Federation president, Mrs. Harriet B. Johnson of Bainbridge Island, and members of the Winslow Club, will be in Victoria on Sunday to attend the annual international picnic as guests of the Victoria Business and Professional Women's Club.

The visitors will be taken on a sightseeing trip and will spend the afternoon at the homes of Mrs. Lily Nicholls and Mrs. Joyce Bartoszewicz, Selkirk Avenue, where a picnic supper will be served by Mrs. Thelma Simmons.

Miss Ella Brett, president of the Victoria Business and Professional Women's Club, will welcome the guests.

VANCOUVER (CP) — Only five people attended the funeral of a 78-year-old doctor who had nearly $500,000 in bank accounts around the city.

The story of the lonely death and burial came to light after the will of Dr. Percy Lorne Lavers was filed for probate Thursday. It left $466,000 to his three spinster sisters, Pearl, Florence and May, of Georgetown, P.E.I., who missed the funeral because they were caring for a sick brother.

Dr. Lavers was found dead July 14 in his $9-a-week room. His 18 fellow roomers and landlady never knew he was wealthy.

A neighbor across the hall described him as a recluse who "would go into his room, close the door and wouldn't answer for anybody."

Police had to smash a locked door the day they found the old doctor's body. In his wallet were $55 in cash and instructions to be followed after his death.

There were only three claims against the doctor's estate—funeral expenses, 1960 income tax and $27 for three weeks' rent.

For the funeral there were flowers from a trust company and an investment man. So far there is no headstone on the grave.

CHICAGO (AP) — Medical science is disposing of another batch of old wives' tales, this time about sleepwalkers.

Among the popularly-believed stories: if you waken a sleepwalker, his heart will stop; a sleepwalker can lift incredible weights.

The American Medical Association says flatly waking a sleepwalker will not cause harmful shock. In fact, it urges waking them gently and as soon as possible so they will avoid falls downstairs and other injuries.

Mystery Woman From Canada?

LIVERPOOL (CP) — Attempts to establish the identity of a "mystery woman" found on a night train to Liverpool switched Friday to Toronto.

"Miss X," a woman in her mid-20s who cannot remember who she is, "thinks" she arrived in Britain two months ago from Canada with a theatrical troupe known as the "Seven Vagabonds."

BULL RACES
Races in which a team of two bulls draw the driver's chariot are still an October festival feature on the island of Madura, near Java.

Show Business

By Dick Williams

Petite Carol Lyness, the "Blue Denim" star, has just made "The Day of the Gun" with Kirk Douglas. She had to learn to use a lariat for her role, and during the early weeks of shooting in Mexico she spent all her spare time practicing.

In the first few days she managed considerable devastation. She upset the still-man's camera tripod. She broke two large potted plants which comprised part of the set decor. She transformed a hitherto lethargic burro into a virtual gazelle at the sight of the lasso. She caused a sizeable group of pigs, hired for atmosphere, to take off for the hills and rendered most of the company rope-shy.

When Carol apologized to director Robert Aldrich for the havoc she'd caused, he patted her hand and smiled philosophically: "Honey, we're grateful the script doesn't call for you to handle a gun."

Liberals Issue Convention Call

$12,000,000 Luxury Hotel May Be Built in James Bay

Millionaire Tourists Management's Target

By TED SHACKLEFORD

Preliminary negotiations for the construction of a $12,000,000 luxury hotel at Belleville and Menzies Streets, adjacent to the legislative buildings, were reported to The Daily Colonist last night.

One firm prominently mentioned in reports was the world-wide Hilton Hotel chain, based in the United States.

A Victoria restaurant owner was mentioned as one of the principals involved. He was not available for comment last night.

Reports indicated the hotel would cater exclusively to tourists in the millionaire bracket who wanted and could pay for more luxurious accommodation than Victoria can provide at present. Penthouses—one report said eight—would be built on top of the hotel.

The location mentioned is one of the few suitable downtown areas left which are enough to contain an hotel. It would be immediately opposite the CPR ferry, across Belleville street, and alongside the legislative buildings.

A provincial cabinet minister was mentioned as negotiating to have an auditorium included in the hotel building. He was not available for comment at press time.

Risk Low In Forests

Forest fire hazard is expected to remain low to moderate throughout B.C. for a few days at least, the forest service said yesterday in its weekly report.

It termed the general situation "excellent."

Number of fires burning, 165, was the lowest since July 5.

Schools

Arrivals Register Now

High school students who will attend school in Greater Victoria for the first time this fall must register before school opens Sept. 6.

School superintendent John Gough said yesterday pupils in Grades 7 and 8 who moved into the district during the summer months should register at the nearest junior or senior high school.

SAME PROCEDURE

The same procedure should be followed, said Mr. Gough, by high school students who formerly attended local schools but have moved to another part of the school district during the vacation period.

New elementary pupils must wait until the opening day of school to register.

Still Missing

Still missing is Gene Denluck, 15, 3940 Telegraph Bay Road. The boy was last seen Monday riding a red Raleigh bicycle.

He was wearing a black "Jimmy Dean" jacket, black running shoes and blue jeans. He is described as five feet, two inches tall, 115 pounds.

Foresters Of World B.C.-Bound

A group of leading foresters from other parts of the world—perhaps as many as 100 of them—will tour Vancouver Island and the Vancouver area Sept. 12 to 16, after the fifth World Forestry Congress in Seattle.

Deputy Forests Minister R. G. McKee will head a B.C. delegation to the Seattle meeting. Some invitations to take the B.C. tour have already been accepted, but Mr. McKee said yesterday, "we won't know until the first week of the congress exactly how many are coming."

Socred Whale Gobbled Grit As Appetizer

By PETER BRUTON

SMALL SHRIMP: A. C. McFadyen, campaign manager for Oak Bay Socred candidate George Murdoch, has been doing some research into the word "grit."

"According to my dictionary, 'grit' means 'rough hard particles,'" he said. "In Canada it means 'an extreme Liberal' and in New Zealand a 'small shrimp—whale feed.'"

"In 1956 the Socred whale sure gobbled them up," he added.

NO ADMITTANCE: An engraved, personal invitation to Premier Bennett's rally here last night wasn't enough to get Victoria eccentric W. A. Scott admitted.

Arriving at 7.10 p.m. he "picketed" the Royal with an anti-Socred sign for an hour, then parked his sign, pulled out his invitation and tried to get in.

He was refused admittance.

at all doors and finally left—but not before expressing his disgust to Victoria Socred campaign manager Joe Bruch in forceful terms.

TICKETED: Premier Bennett's chauffeur-driven limousine drove off after the opening of Vancouver's new Second Narrows bridge Thursday morning.

STILL EXPENSIVE: Saanich CCF candidate Geoff Mitchell dropped into the Colonist yesterday and quipped: "I'm after all the free publicity I can get."

On his way out he found his car ticketed for illegal parking. Amount of fine $2.50.

In Dreamland Hall

LULLABY: CCF leader Robert Strachan, speaking in New Westminster the other night, predicted his party would win B.C.'s Sept. 12 provincial election.

He happened to be speaking in the Royal City's Dreamland Hall at the time.

ROMAN LEGIONS: Sign outside the Royal Theatre here last night read:

"Hear Premier Bennett tonight at 8.30. Ben Hur is coming."

To trample the opposition under the wheels of his chariot, no doubt.

NO TALKER: Earlier this week Progressive Conservative leader Deane Finlayson was quoted as saying he would be willing to wager that Social Credit would not be re-elected on Sept. 12.

Yesterday Vincent C. Maddock of Vancouver said he had $1,000 and Mr. Finlayson could take any or all of it.

Mr. Finlayson promptly replied he was not a betting man and that he had been misquoted.

LONG RECORD: Speaker truck advertising last night's rally didn't arouse enthusiasm of everyone.

"One fellow came in," said Esquimalt Conservative candidate James Bryant, "and said: 'They're asking us to hear Bennett tonight but I've been listening to his guff for eight years.'"

He Got His Dollar

HANDOUT: Victoria CCF candidate Mrs. May Campbell said that while thousands of dollars were being spent to "publicize the wonders of the Social Credit government" at the Royal Theatre last night a victim of unemployment went to the CCF headquarters to ask the price of a meal.

"Hard pressed as the CCF are for money for their campaign he got his dollar," she added.

EQUALIZER: Joke going the CCF rounds these days—"It won't cost us any more to buy the B.C. Electric than it did for the B.C. Electric to buy the present government."

MEET THE PEOPLE: Saanich Conservative Victor Virgin thinks he knows why Socred candidate John Tisdale

won't take part in all-candidate forums.

"He is probably shy of meeting the other candidates on public platforms because he is afraid his supporters will be converted to Tories," he said.

INFORMATION PLEASE: A Victoria girl in receipt of a provincial disability pension was among those sent invitations to Premier Bennett's Socred rally here last night.

The envelope containing the invitation was addressed to the girl's trustee, a man who, for quite sound reasons, prefers to remain nameless.

The intriguing part of the whole affair is that this man is trustee only for receiving the girl's disability pension—and the only people who know he has any connection with the girl is the provincial welfare department.

Vaccine Awaits Word

The orally-taken Salk polio vaccine has been under study in Canada for two years, a B.C. health official said yesterday, and when federally approved and available will be used in the province's anti-polio program.

The vaccine has been approved for use in the United States.

When and if it is pronounced safe in Canada, the B.C. official said, it will be "dovetailed into the Salk vaccine program."

Ottawa Unfair In Pay Boosts 'Servants' Feel

Some federal civil servants here are unhappy over the Ottawa announcement last night that their pay increases will be retroactive to Aug. 1.

G. K. Sammon, national president of the 9,000-member DVA Employees' National Association, said here the government was "playing favorites" by making pay increases for some classes of civil servants retroactive to April 1.

The new round of increases—to 45,000 civil servants'—including administrative and technical employees, customs and immigration officers and a few remaining groups of postal workers—was announced by the civil service commission late Friday.

The raises, covering nearly 800 classes and grades of persons under the Civil Service Act, range from $200 a year to $2,500 in the top grade.

ABOUT 140,000

The announcement said this virtually completes a series of pay adjustments for civil servants begun last April, and brings to about 140,000 the number of employees receiving increases.

A few remaining classes, which haven't yet received raises, would need special study.

Mr. Sammon said his association generally approved of the system of awarding raises by classes of employees. But he added it "created a tremendous morale factor" when some increases were "very high and others very low."

SECOND BATCH

He said the problem of maintaining morale was further aggravated by the latest announcement that the second batch of raises would be retroactive to Aug. 1 instead of April 1.

"The employees in this latest group know that their counterparts in other classes including clerks and stenographers have been getting their increase since April 1. They have been beaten out of $160-$175 on the average—money they just don't get."

Mr. Sammon added: "It's too bad the date for all increases was not made uniform. This way it takes all the pleasure out of receiving something we've been waiting for two years to get."

has spent 30 years in the Indian civil service, culminating in posts as ambassador to Italy, Yugoslavia and the United States, and as his country's representative to the United Nations Security Council.

A natural diffidence dissolves into warm animation when Dr. Sen is pressed about the work of the FAO. Not intimidated by the gigantic nature of the job he has been called upon to do (he travels six to seven months of each year) he is proud of the fact that his organization was the first to be brought into being by the UN, speaks with deep respect and affection of the FAO's first director-general, Sir John Boyd Orr, and praises the role that Canada and Canadians are playing in the fight against poverty.

The Olympics? He would love to be there but, well, there are all those hungry people.

He Won't See Olympic Games—Hungry People Come First

He lives in Rome, but he won't see the Olympics.

Instead, the tall, greying man with the quick warm smile is travelling the world doing a quiet but impressive job of making more food available for the millions who hunger.

Dr. Binay Ranjan Sen is in Victoria this weekend, en route to the World Forestry Conference at Seattle. As director-general of the Food and Agriculture Organization of the United Nations he represents the combined efforts of 88 nations to increase world food stocks.

Yesterday Dr. Sen sat in with the senior members of the provincial department of agriculture, setting out simple objectives of the FAO. Today he meets with Deputy Forests Minister R. G. McKee to learn something of the sustained yield forest program. Rome is his temporary home, Dr. Sen explains. He was born in Calcutta 62 years ago, educated at Oxford, and

Viscounts Slated For Island Run Early Next Year

The twin-engined DC-3 airliners which Trans-Canada Air Lines has used for many years on the Victoria-Vancouver-Seattle route will be replaced early next year with four-engined, turbo-prop Viscounts.

Exact date of the changeover depends on the delivery from England of 20 of the 100-passenger Vickers Vanguard aircraft to replace the 44-passenger Viscounts on medium-range routes across Canada.

Use of the turbo-jet Viscounts on the Victoria-Vancouver-Seattle run is not expected to reduce travelling time appreciably, a spokesman for TCA said last night.

Once the Vanguards are delivered and pilots and staff are trained to handle them the Viscounts will be flown to Victoria. The 28-passenger DC-3s will be sold.

The vessel left Astoria early Friday and her skipper had hoped to make it to Bellingham in about 15 hours.

Cadets Happy, Tanned

Tanned, healthy and happy to be home, about 75 Victoria army cadets swarmed ashore yesterday from the Princess Marguerite, back from annual camp at Vernon.

Reunions with welcoming families came first, then the boys made a beeline for home and "civvies."

How was the camp? "Wonderful!" "Hot!" "I hope I can go again next year."

These were typical answers gleaned from Canadian Scottish, PPCLI and RCEME cadets who were in too much of a hurry to get home to stay and talk long.

SCHOOL UNIT

L.Cpl. Nicholas H. Etheridge, 16, of 2630 Orchard, is a member of 170 Canadian Scottish, the University School unit.

"It was hot up there," he said, "but I heard it's been hot here, too. It got up to 110 at Vernon, but it's a dry heat. I enjoyed the whole thing."

LED CHORUS

The voice of Cpl. William A. Hollings, 15, 3178 Douglas, of the RCEME cadets, led the chorus of "Civvies" when a group was asked what was next on their program.

Asked if he'd had much shop work, considering his unit, he said "No, we were all given infantry training."

STILL FEEL MOTION

Howard Cochrane, also 16, said he could still feel the motion of the boat, but he had a little way to go yet to get home. He lives at 3755 Duke Road, Albert Head.

Two senior NCOs of the RCEME cadets—were sure they'd had the softest touch of all.

ENTIRE CAMP

WO2 Bill Randall, 3119 Orillia, and Staff-Sgt. Lorne E. Munro, 1506 Hillside, third-year campers both, spent the entire camp on a driver-mechanics course.

"We only had one parade turnout all camp."

Vast China Market Awaits B.C.—Knott

An emergency crash program of 75,000 jobs would be only one of the benefits B.C. could put into effect as a result of sending trade missions to all countries, particularly China and the socialist countries.

Ernie Knott, Saanich Communist party candidate, told an audience of 40 persons last night. "There is a vast market in China for B.C. herring and other fish and lumber products,"

"A diversion of military spending to municipal needs could quite easily look after school and sewage costs in Saanich," he said.

The first practical step in that direction is for B.C. to press Ottawa to take a position of neutrality in the cold war, which would make it possible for Canada to carry out disarmament.

"If this was done Canada could break away from expensive military alliances," he said.

Your Problems

By Ann Landers

Dear Ann: May I have your candid opinion of identification bracelets worn around the ankle of a woman?

My mother says they are downright cheap and no respectable woman would be caught dead in one. I remember a very charming woman, middle-aged, who worked in a bank. She was secretary to the president and spoke in a most refined manner. She wore an ankle bracelet to work every day.

I've polled the office where I work and have received a wide variety of responses. Now, may I have yours?—CHECKING.

Dear Checking: At the risk of having jeweler who sells ankle bracelets on my neck, as well as the thousands of women who wear them, I must concede I am less than enthusiastic about them.

If a woman needs an identification bracelet to know who she is, she should wear it around her wrist. Jewelry worn around the ankle calls attention to the leg, which, in my opinion, is not dignified. There is something to be said for being found dead in one, however. It's immediate identification.

Dear Ann: I married Jeff when I was 18. I had two babies and two miscarriages in two years. I could fill this newspaper with stories of the abuse I suffered. For the children's sake I put up with swollen lips and black eyes. When Jeff broke my jaw I divorced him.

This was two years ago. He has telephoned me almost every week to ask if I've found anyone else.

Last night Jeff came to see me and said he's been living with a girl. She's expecting his child any day and he says he "owes her something," so he plans to stay with her another few months. Then he wants to remarry me.

He took the family Bible and swore he'd be a good husband if I'd give him another chance. My mother says I should take him back for the children's sake. Should I?—EMMA.

Dear Emma: That "something" he owes the girl he's living with is marriage. Jeff was no good when you were married to him and he hasn't improved. Just because a man swears on a Bible does not mean he's read it or that he intends to live by it.

Dear Ann Landers: How can I keep a certain well-meaning friend out of my hair? She lives in the next block and comes to visit every day at about 9 a.m.

This woman has no children,

Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Gordon Married at First United

Rev. C. Leighton Straight officiated at recent double-ring wedding in First United Church that united Judith Helen Raine and John Roderick Gordon. Baskets of white, pink and mauve gladioli were used to form a setting for the candlelight ceremony.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Arthur L. Raine of James Island and Mr. and Mrs. R. G. Gordon of Sprout Lake.

Gown chosen by the bride for her wedding was of white silk organza over tulle and tulle. It was styled with fitted bodice, lily point sleeves, a lace applique scoop neckline and very full, floor-length hooped skirt. Her veil of silk illusion net was held with a small pearl tiara and she carried red roses and white heather. Pearl seed earrings and culture pearl necklace, was a gift of the groom. She was given in marriage by her father.

As attendants, Mrs. W. M. Pinchin, Vancouver, and Mrs. W. Mason, James Island, wore identical street-length gowns of delphinium blue flowered silk chiffon over tulle and tulle matching taffeta and tulle hats. Their bouquets were white feathered gladioli and carnations.

Best man was Barrie C. H. Wharf and the ushers were Norman Oldfield and the bride's brother, Russell Raine. Reception was held in Holyrood House where head table was centred with a three-tier square wedding cake, flanked by pink rosebuds and white tulle. W. R. Devlin proposed the toast.

Honeymoon is being spent motoring in the United States and on return the couple will live at 630 Foul Bay Road. For travelling the bride chose a willow green fitted Blin and Blin suit with brown hat and accessories, and corsage of Johanna Hill roses.

Out-of-town guests at the wedding included Miss Lillie Mitchell, Halifax; Mr. and Mrs. J. Wiseman and Miss Bettie Wiseman of Alberni; Mr. and Mrs. C. Harrison of Vancouver and Mrs. S. L. Hughes and Miss Allison Hughes of Port Alberni.

Couple to Reside Here

Mr. and Mrs. Archibald A. Storey wish to announce the marriage of their eldest daughter, Evelyn May, to Leading Seaman Jean-Charles Gaston Bujold, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jean-Wilfrid Bujold of New Carlisle, Quebec. The marriage took place recently in the chapel at HMCS Stadacona.

The bride wore a floor-length gown of white organza fitted at the waist with three tiers of embroidered organza. The high neckline and short sleeves were embroidered with small roses. Her chapel length veil was held by a crown of seed pearls and iridescent sequins and she carried a bouquet of red roses and white stephanotis. She was given away by Chief Petty Officer Leslie Miklas.

Miss Helen Lebreton, bridesmaid, wore a yellow nylon gown with matching velvet bandeau trimmed with white daisies. She carried a bouquet of yellow roses and white daisies.

The best man was Dave O'Neil.

RED CEDAR
SIDING

"Keystone" clear kiln-dried siding is the finest available — a quality material for all applications where perfection is required.

THE LUMBER

Western red cedar lumber is noted for its exceptional durability, light weight and beautiful color, ranging from almost pure white of the narrow sapwood to reddish brown heartwood.

It is very easily worked, is free from pitch, takes and holds stains, paints and enamels excellently, and is superior for glue-ing. Because of these qualities, Western red cedar is especially adaptable for use as bevel siding for quality homes.

DURABILITY

Western red cedar is one of the most durable species known. Its heart-wood is highly resistant to decay, and can be counted on for long and worthy service where conditions favoring decay prevail.

paint or other protective finishes, Western red cedar weathers to an intriguing grey color having little or no sheen.

It is one of the most stable species of lumber, having very little tendency to cup and pull loose from fastenings when exposed to the weather.

INSULATING QUALITIES

Western red cedar has the highest insulating value of all commonly-used soft woods — another point in its favor as siding, and of particular importance when used as roof decking.

No Summer Vacation in Sight for Busy Diefenbaker

OTTAWA (CP)—Prime Minister Diefenbaker apparently has set aside any thought of a personal summer vacation this year.

His office said he has booked engagements no more than 10 days apart that will carry him through what remains of the summer.

His only chance for a break is an extended Labor Day weekend covering the first six or seven days of September. But no holiday plans have been made, his office said.

When Parliament prorogued Aug. 10, Mr. Diefenbaker told reporters he had no plans for a vacation trip until after his cabinet colleagues had a chance to spend some time holidaying.

Mr. Diefenbaker has been at his office every weekday and on some Saturdays since then. He has worked weekends at the prime minister's summer residence at Harrington Lake, 18 miles north of the capital.

Cabinet meetings have been held only on the last two Wednesdays, and one is scheduled for next Tuesday.

A fall opening of the 1961 session of Parliament—likely on Oct. 31—now is being planned to get a head-start on next year's legislative program and committee work. While enough government legislation now is ready to make a busy start for the new session, more bills will be before cabinet for pre-session study in the weeks ahead.

Mr. Diefenbaker verbally accepted an invitation from former premier Kishi to visit Japan this autumn, and the invitation was renewed verbally by the government that succeeded the Kishi administration when it resigned after President Eisenhower's Far Eastern trip.

One of Mr. Diefenbaker's favorite pastimes, in which he has not been able to engage since taking office as prime minister in June, 1957, is duck-hunting in northern Saskatchewan—or, for that matter, anywhere. In the absence of a summer vacation, Mr. Diefenbaker probably is quite aware of the fact the duck hunting season opens here on Sept. 24 and in northern Saskatchewan on Sept. 12.

U.S. Breaks Ties In Campaign Against Trujillo

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The U.S. Friday broke off diplomatic relations with the Dominican Republic, the first time in 42 years it has taken such action against a hemispheric neighbor.

Nobody's Satellite Says Cuba

SAN JOSE, Costa Rica (CP)—Cuban Foreign Minister Raul Roa declared categorically Friday that the revolutionary government of Premier Fidel Castro is not Communist.

"We are not anybody's satellite. We do not want to be anybody's satellite. We are not prepared to be labelled with that title," he told the meeting of foreign ministers of 20 American republics.

Roa renewed an offer he made Thursday to negotiate United States-Cuban problems under international law.

The action followed last week's decision by the Organization of American States that all member countries should sever relations with the regime of dictator Rafael Trujillo.

The aim is to force Dominican reform or lead to Trujillo's downfall. Relations can't be restored until two-thirds of the 21 OAS members vote that the Dominican regime has reformed.

The U.S. recalled about 40 members of its embassy in Ciudad Trujillo and requested that the Dominican mission here go home.

The state department is considering further economic sanctions against the Trujillo regime. Congress may cancel an increase in the republic's sugar quota granted last month after Cuba's sugar imports were reduced.

Chile and El Salvador took similar action while Brazil delayed its move for a few days.

Bennett Tells Capacity Crowd:

Investment Millions, New Jobs Hinge on Big Socred Win

Child Murderer Was Fugitive From Institution

CALGARY (CP)—Convicted murderer Ronald McCorquodale was a fugitive from a Manitoba mental hospital when he bludgeoned 10-year-old Lynne LeFurgey to death in a church basement last Nov. 19, according to reports here.

The Calgary Albertan says McCorquodale escaped from the Selkirk, Man., institution in 1953, was never recaptured, and later was written off by hospital authorities as "discharged" and harmless.

When McCorquodale was tried last May for the murder of the Calgary girl his record included the "discharge" from Selkirk but no mention was made of his escape.

The informant said McCorquodale, then 18, was in his fourth year of indefinite confinement when he escaped from the hospital.

NEVER INFORMED

McCorquodale eventually ended up in Alberta at a mental hospital in Ponoka. Ponoka authorities never were informed of his escape from Selkirk.

The Albertan also said it was inconceivable the federal cabinet did not know an appeal against McCorquodale's death sentence had been filed and a reprieve granted before the cabinet commuted the death sentence last Friday to life imprisonment. The commutation came less than a week before the originally-scheduled hanging date, Aug. 24.

NOT BEEN INFORMED

This possibility—that the cabinet had not been informed of the motion of appeal and reprieve to Dec. 14—came to light Friday in Calgary when Sheriff G. F. Butterwick told a press conference notices of neither had been sent to the secretary of state as directed in capital cases procedure.

Sheriff Butterwick indicated Friday it "may well have been" his responsibility to inform the secretary of state.

Four-Month Surplus Swamps '59

OTTAWA (UPI)—The budgetary surplus accumulated during the first four months of the current fiscal year was five times greater than that during the same period last year, it was disclosed last night.

Finance Minister Donald Fleming said in his monthly statement on the government's finances that there was a surplus of $207,800,000 compared to one of $38,400,000 last year.

The difference was accounted for by increased revenue, especially in the personal income and corporation taxation fields, while expenditures remained relatively unchanged.

Revenues during the first four months—April through July—totalled $1,850,700,000 and expenditures $1,642,700,000.

Tunisians Asked to Get Out, Canadians Stalled in Congo

ASKED TO GO

The Canadians, quartered in a camp occupied by Tunisian UN troops, were unable to prepare for the establishment of a communications station

because of tough Congolese control.

The Congolese plan to move into the Tunisians' camp and have asked them to get out. The UN commander in Lulubourg asked that no equipment be sent in and prepared to fly out the Canadians as soon as possible.

Meanwhile, a U.S. Globemaster, flying additional men and equipment from Trenton, Ont., was more than 36 hours overdue and unreported since it left Canada.

NOT CONCERNED

Air force officials in Ottawa, not yet concerned, said Globemasters often are not heard from for up to 48 hours, depending on their route.

Another four-man advance party of Canadians in Stanleyville found it touch-and-go in their relations with the Congolese. However, the situation now is reported to have improved and the party has been able to start work on communications.

PROVOST CORPS

Nine Canadian provost corpsmen reached Leopoldville Friday to join an international provost company. It will also include 19 Indians and 11 Danes.

Mile of Lava Slides Along Alaska Valley

KODIAK, Alaska (AP)—Purplish-black lava covered a mile-long 300-yard-wide strip in the valley of 10,000 Smokes Thursday, after old Katmai Mountain began sending up signals again.

In the third volcanic eruption in the area in the last two weeks, mushroom-shaped clouds were puffed from the mountain every 15 minutes.

Wind carried smoke and dust in a southwesterly direction down the Alaska Peninsula.

Last Monday, an eruption, believed to have been from Mount Trident, sent clouds of smoke and ash 30,000 feet high and blocked out the sun as far away as Kodiak, 150 miles southeast.

China Probe Frustrated

VANCOUVER (CP)—Commissioner C. E. Harvison of the RCMP said Friday he believes syndicate agents have frustrated police efforts to uncover those responsible for bringing Chinese into Canada illegally.

He said the federal government will have to take a long look at its amnesty-for-truth policy, offered the Chinese some time ago.

EXPECTED RUSH

"We had expected a rush of Chinese to regularize their status in Canada and escape the slave labor conditions they're forced to accept through fear of being reported or deported," he said in an interview.

Commissioner Harvison felt a syndicate had foiled the amnesty offer by convincing immigrants it was a hoax.

He said the RCMP crackdown would be intensified, promised wholesale arrests,

By IAN STREET

Premier Bennett told a capacity audience at the Royal Theatre last night "hundreds of millions" of investment dollars that mean new jobs will pour into British Columbia if Social Credit is returned "with a big vote" Sept. 12.

In his two-hour address, which ranged from a rambling discourse on the achievements of Social Credit over the past eight years to a violent, arm-waving attack on opposition and press critics, the premier made these points:

● The attendance of some 1,460 plus an estimated 200 turned away for lack of seating accommodations shows Victoria needs a new civic auditorium.

● Social Credit is the "largest spark plug to the economy" of any provincial government in Canada.

● Wenner-Gren interests have "never been given a single concession and never will as long as I'm premier."

● The controversial Bill 43 has brought about less strife between labor and management than at any time before in the history of this province.

● Power potential of the Peace River is the only one of four major B.C. sources of hydro power that can be developed in the near future.

● Accused critics of his government of having "no faith in the future of this great country" and lashed out at what he termed the "critics who sit in the scuffer's seat with a pen trying to find new words to hold back development of this province."

● Produced documents to back up his statements and tossed them from the stage after inviting members of the audience to "take them and see for yourself."

At the end of his lengthy address the premier still had a full head of steam. But many members of the audience were willing in the stuffy atmosphere of the theatre. Several dozen left before the end and even some of the party faithful on stage stifled yawns and glanced at their watches.

"There's a great deal more I'd like to tell you," said Mr. Bennett. "But time unfortunately doesn't permit. I would say to you all, if you believe

Views Clash

Soviet-China Feud Flares

LONDON (Reuters)—A Soviet authority Friday warned against any Communist attempts to "export revolution" to African, Asian and Latin-American countries.

The warning highlighted a new clash of views between Moscow and Peking on the Chinese-backed theory that war with the imperialist countries is inevitable.

Soviet academician E. Zhukov, an expert on Asian affairs, issued the warning in the Communist party newspaper Pravda. He was speaking for the peaceful co-existence policy being pushed by Premier Khrushchev despite objections from Chinese Communist Leader Mao Tse-tung. Zhukov blasted "hopeless dogmatists" who believe peaceful coexistence is delaying liberation movements in colonial countries.

It appeared from Zhukov's attack that the Chinese have criticized Russia's willingness to support non-Communist leaders of newly-independent nations. He implied Communist China wants to use colonial independence struggles to foment revolutions in each emerging colony.

Zhukov bitterly criticized those who "sniffed" at non-Communist liberation movements.

New Notions

South Africa to End 'Emergency' Aug. 31

PRETORIA (Reuters)—Justice Minister Francois Erasmus announced Friday the 150-day state of emergency in South Africa will end Aug. 31.

More than 10,000 persons have been detained under the emergency—laws imposed March 30, nine days after 67 Negroes were killed in riots at Sharpeville.

Most of the detainees have been released and the remainder are expected to be freed when the state of emergency ends in five days.

Erasmus said the state of emergency is no longer necessary for the maintenance of law and order.

The regulations already have been lifted in 77 of the 123 districts including all major cities and towns in South Africa.

The Johannesburg Star said it is impossible to ascertain how many persons still are in detention but estimated that nearly all of the 8,600 Negroes held under Regulation 4 have been released.

The repeal of the emergency regulations, which granted sweeping powers to Erasmus and the police, is expected to ease the atmosphere in this Commonwealth country as it prepares for a referendum Oct. 5 on the question of creating a republic.

der are expected to be freed when the state of emergency ends in five days.

ALL ABOARD

(Reprinted)

"I MET a man who reads your newspaper column, the other day. Thought you'd like to hear."
"Yes. Good of you to tell me. Who was it?"
"I don't know, but he was quite a fan of yours, that piece you write—what do you call it?"
"All Aboard."
"Yes, All Aboard. Frankly, I must confess that I don't read it myself. I'm too busy."
"I'm sorry to hear that."

"That's all right. But this fellow I met—wish I could remember his name—he read your column, anyway. I thought you would like to hear about it."

"I certainly would."

"Is that so?"
"Yes. And he got tired of cleaning up, so he read your column. He really liked it. So he said to me, 'If you ever see Mortimore, you tell him I really liked that piece he wrote.' So I'm telling you."

"Thanks."
"He told me what it was about but I darned if I can remember now."
"Ah, well, that can't be helped."

"The millennium would be here."
"And then he happened to find another column of yours wrapped around some eggs. He didn't like that quite as much as the first one, but he told me to say hello to you anyway, and keep up the good work."

"Thanks again."
"You're welcome. Why wait until a man's dead to praise him? Tell him some of the nice things while he's still alive. I always say."

Premier Bennett Blasts Opponents

HECKLERS LOSE
Mr. Bennett scored frequently at the expense of a few hecklers who kept up a sporadic half-hearted barrage of interruptions while he talked. He told them: "You'll vote for me, I know, when the time comes."

TAKE CUE
Applause from the audience was polite and at times enthusiastic, but it lacked excitement. Other speakers and platform guests stood to applaud as the premier was introduced and many in the audience took their cue. At the end of his speech the applause lasted about a minute.

Other speakers at the rally were: Sorel candidates for Victoria, W. N. Chant, J. Donald Smith and Waldo Skilling; Reeve George Murdoch for Oak Bay; John Tisdale, Saanich; Herbert Bruch, Esquimalt. Chairman was Noel Murphy, provincial president of the B.C. Social Credit League.
Premier Bennett apologized to the "hundreds" who were turned away from the doors of the theatre and said he didn't like to make political promises at election time. He added: "If this was any other time, I'd say Victoria needs a new civic auditorium."

New Delhi Thirst

Diplomatic Deals Bring Whistles In Cynical City

NEW DELHI (AP)—An Asian diplomat preparing to leave India agreed after some dickering to sell his 1960 Chevrolet to a New Delhi dealer for $13,800.

Before the car could be handed over another New Delhi dealer offered $15,300. The diplomat hesitated long enough to get a bid of $16,380 from a Bombay dealer.
He then sold to the original bidder, who by now was willing to pay $17,000.

The incident brought whistles even in a city, grown cynical through years of wheeling and dealing by foreign diplomats.

The Times of India called the price a record. It figured the diplomat spent about $2,500 for the car including duties which the diplomat himself had to pay when the car was sold in India.

He had kept the automobile six months.

Although this was an extreme example, diplomats of many countries figure the resale of personal automobiles should add approximately a year's salary for a tour of duty in India.

Under import controls, virtually all luxury goods are excluded from India's regular trade channels. As a result, departing diplomats find a thirsty market for virtually all their possessions—even used bathing suits.

Until 1957 there were no restrictions whatever, and some diplomats retailed a succession of automobiles during their stay in India.

The government then began requiring permission before sales could be completed, with the general effect being to restrict each diplomat to the sale of one car for each two-year tour of duty.
By police estimates, more than 200 foreign cars were traded in this manner last year.

New Bridge In Royal City

NEW WESTMINSTER (CP)—Mayor Beth Wood Friday officially opened the new $4,000,000 Queensborough Bridge, connecting New Westminster and Lulu Island. It replaces a 51-year-old wooden structure.
One of the approaches to the new span is not yet completed. The old bridge is closed to all motor traffic, but will continue in use as a railway bridge.

UN Plane Fired On

LEOPOLDVILLE (UPI)—A United Nations mail plane was fired upon while flying over an area where there is tribal fighting, it was announced yesterday.
A UN spokesman said several shots were fired at the plane yesterday and one hit it, narrowly missing a Swedish soldier on board.

Whiff, Cough, Weakness —Life Would Be Over

DUGWAY PROVING GROUND, Utah (UPI)—Waging war with the wide variety of nerve-killing or nerve-numbing gasses now in the arsenals of the U.S. and, presumably, Russia would be a terrifying thing.

If the gas were the "G.B." agent demonstrated here for the first time Thursday, death would come quickly. A whiff or a drop of the substance would first produce coughing. Then the legs and arms would weaken. Within seconds, life would be over.

Four goats and four pigeons in test troop installations on a hillside died during the test. Their lives were not sacrificed just for show—data collected will be used by the U.S. chemical corps to improve methods for survival by civilians and soldiers, should a gas attack come.

A fifth goat did survive in a deep hole where air circulation was so poor that he never received an effective dose.

One of the animals survived the initial gassing because he had a mask over his face, but pulled the mask's hose loose and soon was lifeless.

Another gas demonstrated—by herding newsmen volunteers through a cloud of bitter, salt-tasting stuff—was "C.S.," an agent, like "G.B.," whose formula is secret and is referred to only by initials.

"C.S." was developed as a riot control gas—a super tear gas. It didn't bring either death or paralysis. But it quickly produced tears and a chest tightness so powerful that any thoughts of normal conduct were soon lost in a rush for fresh air and relief. This gas, obviously, could be used in wartime to put a gun crew or other enemy post out of action temporarily. Like the lethal agents, it could be delivered by missile, shell or bomb.

Test conductors, led by Brig. Gen. Fred Delmore, chemical corps research and development chief, said work on gas wire. Accidents yesterday were the third and fourth on the stretch of highway in two weeks.

Crashes at Duncan Put Six in Hospital

DUNCAN — Two cars were wrecked and six persons taken to hospital, from separate accidents yesterday, when the automobiles skidded off the Trans-Canada Highway within 50 yards of each other.

In the first accident at about 10.30 a.m. the car rocketed off the highway and into a creek bed between six-foot concrete culverts which separate old and new highways.

The second car pitched off the highway, rolled and was cut almost in two ahead of the motor when it smashed into a power line guy wire and hung suspended from it.

Mrs. Tom Robertson, 214 Fourth Ave., Port Alberni, who was eight months pregnant, appeared to be in good condition with minor injuries and doctors are trying to save her baby.

IN FIRST CAR

She was in the first car, driven by John Molnar, 300 Athol, Port Alberni, who was also taken to King's Daughters' Hospital with shock, minor cuts and face injuries.

In the front seat with him, Mrs. Berit Trapp, also of Port Alberni, was the only one of the four taken to St. Joseph's

Mr. Robertson, in the back seat with his wife, received head injuries and a broken right leg.

All four victims of the morning accident were witnesses in a preliminary hearing set for Victoria police court at 10 a.m. yesterday.

HEARING REMANDED

As they were "major" witnesses, the hearing was remanded to Monday to determine their condition and set a new hearing date.

Witness Victor Mazar, 18, said the Molnar car was going south and passing another car when it appeared to skid and go out of control.

"It happened so fast it was awful," he said. "They crashed into the creek and we had an awful time getting them out."

In the second accident, the car driven by Edwin Stewart Ilett, of Vancouver, was also going south and attempting to pass when it went out of control.

KNOCKED OUT

Police said Ilett was knocked out in the accident about 2.30 p.m. He and his passenger, Albert Redlich, were hospitalized with minor abrasions and shock.

They were pulled from the car that was hanging upside down by local residents and passersby.

The first crash was south of the Somers farm market, and the second just north of it. The market is a quarter of a mile north of here.

Guy Windeyer, owner of the market, said they were the third and fourth accidents on the stretch of road in two weeks.

Creek Bed Wrecks Car

Four persons were injured yesterday morning when the car above rocketed off the highway and into a creek bed between six-foot concrete culverts that separate the old and new highways about a quarter of a mile north of Duncan.

Divers to Pit Skill Against Fishermen

PORT ALBERNI — Alberni Valley skin divers will pit their skill against tyee fishermen on Sunday, Sept. 4, in a contest to determine which can bring in the highest poundage of fish.

Peter Campbell, of the skin divers, and Lawrence Sailor, of the Alberni Valley Tyee Club, have arranged terms of the contest which will give the divers a two-and-a-half to one advantage. For example, a 10-pound cod weighed in by a diver will equal a 25-pound tyee caught in regulation manner.

The contest will be a feature of the second day of the three-day open derby, highlight of the club's first annual tyee week.

Members and non-members are invited to take part in the derby on Sept. 3, 4 and 5. Each day a prize of $100 will be given for the largest fish, $25 for the second largest, with a figure trophy to each first and second place winner. In addition $25 will go to the fisherman with the largest catch of the three days.

Other events of the week include the Chamber of Commerce sponsored excursion to Bamfield aboard the MV Lady Rose, Sunday, and the downtown merchants association jaywalkers jamboree on Thursday, Friday and Saturday.

Alex Underdown, president of the Tyee Club, said Friday arrangements have been made to give away free portions of smoked, barbecued tyee from a stall in the downtown shopping mall during the three days of the jamboree.

Mr. Campbell has estimated that 15 members of the Skin Divers Club will take part in the poundage contest. Also suggested and perhaps to take place is a man-to-man contest between a member of the Tyee Club and a skin diver with the fisherman to use a line in attempt to bring the diver to the surface and close enough to the boat to place a net over the diver's head.

Mid-Island School Summer Success

LADYSMITH — An official report to the Board of School Trustees here hails the first mid-island Summer High School as a "marked success".

The central committee consisting of trustees from the school boards, district superintendents, the principal and representatives of the National Employment Service feel that the project was worthwhile and intend to continue it.

32 COURSES

One hundred and forty-four students took advantage of the 32 courses offered by the summer school, which was held at Duncan. Pupils from grades 9 to 12 were enrolled. Courses in English, mathematics, social studies, science, French and commerce were reviewed.

The school was sponsored by school boards of Ladysmith, Lake Cowichan, Cowichan and Salt Spring Island.

FROM DUNCAN

Nineteen of the students came from Chemainus-Ladysmith area, 21 from Cobble

Hill, 24 from Lake Cowichan, nine from Salt Spring, most of the remainder from Duncan.

A detailed report and policy for the coming year will be considered at the next meeting of the committee.

Rites Held For Pioneer

HILLIERS — Funeral services were held from Grace United Church, at Coombs, for George Benjamin Moore, pioneer resident, who died in St. Paul's Hospital, Vancouver, at the age of 79. Rev. Robert Moses officiated.

Born in North Shields, England, Mr. Moore came to Canada in 1910, settling in New Westminster. A year later he moved to Hilliers and had much to do with the early development of the district, working as contracting carpenter, and serving for 16 years as a road foreman, and for many years was the local notary public.

Surviving are his widow, Caroline; two sons, John, Victoria, and George, Port Alberni; one daughter, Mrs. V. A. Cannings, Qualicum Beach.

Spectacular Crash Injures No One

ALBERNI—No one was injured in a spectacular accident Thursday evening when a sports car went out of control, climbed a bank on the left side of the road, struck another vehicle and landed on its roof on the right side of the road.

Police said Terence Wayne Heineman, Alberni, was driver of the sports car involved in the accident on Alberni highway east of McKinnon's Dairy. He was driving west when he lost control of the car. Mrs. Nellie van der Hoeven, driver of the other vehicle involved had brought her car almost to a stop when it was struck by Heineman's car as it careened across the road.

Impairment Thrown Out

DUNCAN — County court judge A. H. J. Swencisky of Vancouver quashed a conviction of impaired driving against a Victoria businessman here yesterday, but chided him for contradicting police evidence.

Fewer Curbs For Hunters

DUNCAN — When hunters start after grouse and deer next month they won't have to bother with pesky municipal permits.

Three readings of the new firearms bylaw were given by council Wednesday and it will be adopted at the next meeting, before the season opens.

Hunters are forbidden to discharge firearms in built-up areas where houses are marked with street numbers.

Until the change hunters could not hunt in fire protection areas. Hunters are advised to check municipal maps at the municipal offices or sporting goods stores.

Joseph E. Garner, 51, a logging operator, had been fined $150 and had his driver's licence suspended for 30 days upon conviction in police court Aug. 2.

Judge Swencisky said there was a doubt in his mind Garner was impaired, but "on the other hand, I am disappointed in the accused in flatly contradicting the police testimony."

He added: "If the constable had not placed the accused under arrest he would have been derelict in his duty."

Garner said his station wagon weaved because the steering was faulty, his speech was poor because he had an antacid mint in his mouth, and that he was unsteady because of a knee operation. He also said he had not been drinking for several hours previous to being stopped.

Socred Whale Gobbled Grit As Appetizer

By PETER BRUTON

SMALL SHRIMP: A. C. McFadyen, campaign manager for Oak Bay Socred candidate George Murdoch, has been doing some research into the word "grit."

"According to my dictionary, 'grit' means 'rough hard particles,'" he said. "In Canada it means 'an extreme Liberal' and in New Zealand 'a small shrimp—whale feed.'"

"In 1956 the Socred whale sure gobbled them up," he added.

NO ADMITTANCE: An engraved, personal invitation to Premier Bennett's rally here last night wasn't enough to get Victoria eccentric W. A. Scott admitted.

Arriving at 7:10 p.m., he "picketed" the Royal with an anti-Socred sign for an hour, then parked his sign, pulled out his invitation and tried to get in.

He was refused admittance

at all doors and finally left—but not before expressing his disgust to Victoria Socred campaign manager Joe Bruch in forceful terms.

TICKETED: Premier Bennett's chauffeur-driven limousine drove off after the opening of Vancouver's new Second Narrows bridge Thursday bearing a large sticker reading: "Vote CCF."

STILL EXPENSIVE: Saanich CCF candidate Geoff Mitchell dropped into the Colonist yesterday and quipped: "I'm after all the free publicity I can get."

On his way out he found his car ticketed for illegal parking. Amount of fine $2.50.

In Dreamland Hall

LULLABY: CCF leader Robert Strachan, speaking in New Westminster the other night, predicted his party would win B.C.'s Sept. 12 provincial election.

He happened to be speaking in the Royal City's Dreamland Hall at the time.

ROMAN LEGIONS: Sign outside the Royal Theatre here last night read: "Hear Premier Bennett tonight at 8:30. Ben Hur is coming."

To trample the opposition under the wheels of his chariot, no doubt.

NO TAKER: Earlier this week Progressive Conservative leader Deane Finlayson

He Got His Dollar

HANDOUT: Victoria CCF candidate Mrs. May Campbell said that while thousands of dollars were being spent to "publicize the wonders of the Social Credit government" at the Royal Theatre last night a victim of unemployment went to the CCF headquarters to ask the price of a meal.

"Hard pressed as the CCF are for money for their campaign he got his dollar," she added.

EQUALIZER: Joke going the CCF rounds these days—"It won't cost us any more to buy the B.C. Electric than it did for the B.C. Electric to buy the present government."

MEET THE PEOPLE: Saanich Conservative Victor Virgin thinks he knows why Socred candidate John Tisdale

won't take part in all-candidate forums.

"He is probably shy of meeting the other candidates on public platforms because he is afraid his supporters will be converted to Tories," he said.

INFORMATION PLEASE: A Victoria girl in receipt of a provincial disability pension was among those sent invitations to Premier Bennett's Socred rally here last night.

The envelope containing the invitation was addressed to the girl's trustee, a man who, for quite sound reasons, prefers to remain nameless.

The intriguing part of the whole affair is that this man is trustee only for receiving the girl's disability pension—and the only people who know he has any connection with the girl is the provincial welfare department.

Ottawa Unfair In Pay Boosts 'Servants' Feel

Some federal civil servants here are unhappy over the Ottawa announcement last night that their pay increases will be retroactive to Aug. 1.

G. K. Sammon, national president of the 9,000-member DVA Employees' National Association, said here the government was "playing favorites" by making pay increases for some classes of civil servants retroactive to April 1.

The new round of increases—to 45,000 civil servants including administrative and technical employees, customs and immigration officers and a few remaining groups of postal workers—was announced by the civil service commission late Friday.

The raises, covering nearly 800 classes and grades of persons under the Civil Service Act, range from $200 a year to $2,500 in the top grade.

ABOUT 140,000

The announcement said this virtually completes a series of pay adjustments for civil servants begun last April, and brings to about 140,000 the number of employees receiving increases.

A few remaining classes, which haven't yet received raises, would need special study.

Mr. Sammon said his association generally approved of the system of awarding raises by classes of employees. But he added it "created a tremendous morale factor" when some increases were "very high and others very low."

SECOND BATCH

He said the problem of maintaining morale was further aggravated by the latest announcement that the second batch of raises would be retroactive to Aug. 1 instead of April 1.

"The employees in this latest group know that their counterparts in other classes including clerks and stenographers have been getting their increases since April 1. They have been beaten out of $160-$175 on the average—money they just don't get."

Mr. Sammon added: "It's too bad the date for all increases was not made uniform. This way it takes all the pleasure out of receiving something we've been waiting for two years to get."

Millionaire Tourists Management's Target

Preliminary negotiations for the construction of a $12,000,000 luxury hotel at Belleville and Menzies Streets, adjacent to the legislative buildings, were reported to The Daily Colonist last night.

One firm prominently mentioned in reports was the world-wide Hilton Hotel chain, based in the United States. A Victoria restaurant owner was mentioned as one of the principals involved. He was not available for comment last night.

Reports indicated the hotel would cater exclusively to tourists in the millionaire bracket who wanted and could pay for more luxurious accommodation than Victoria can provide at present. Penthouses—one report said eight—would be built on top of the hotel.

The location mentioned is one of the few suitable downtown areas left which are enough to contain an hotel. It would be immediately opposite the CPR ferry, across Belleville street, and alongside the legislative buildings.

A provincial cabinet minister was mentioned as negotiating to have an auditorium included in the hotel building. He was not available for comment at press time.

Schools

Arrivals Register Now

High school students who will attend school in Greater Victoria for the first time this fall must register before school opens Sept. 6.

School superintendent Joan Gough said yesterday pupils in Grades 7 and 8 who moved into the district during the summer months should register at the nearest junior or senior high school.

SAME PROCEDURE

The same procedure should be followed, said Mr. Gough, by high school students who formerly attended local schools but have moved to another part of the school district during the vacation period.

New elementary pupils must wait until the opening day of school to register.

Still Missing

Still missing is Gene Denluck, 15, 3940 Telegraph Bay Road. The boy was last seen Monday riding a red Raleigh bicycle. He was wearing a black "Jimmy Dean" jacket, black running shoes and blue jeans. He is described as five feet, two inches tall, 115 pounds.

Risk Low In Forests

Forest fire hazard is expected to remain low to moderate throughout B.C. for a few days at least, the forest service said yesterday in its weekly report.

It termed the general situation "excellent."

Cowichan Classes

Food for Mind Tops Exercise

DUNCAN—Cowichan residents taking night school courses were more interested last year in food for the mind than exercise for the body.

A disappointing drop in the keep-fit class was noted by E. A. Goddard, night school director.

Concerning the overall classes, he said: "It is a pleasure to record some growth in public response to the night school program last year."

Almost 200 persons took vocational and recreational

700 Return to Work In Nanaimo District

NANAIMO—More than 700 loggers have returned to work in the woods in the Nanaimo area as a result of the last 10 days of rain. Another 100 are getting ready to return to their jobs Monday.

National Employment Service officials said the trek back to the woods will bring the unemployment total at Nanaimo below the 600 mark by Monday night.

Around the Island

Extension Made In Summer Run To Gulf Islands

GANGES—Summer schedule of the Gulf Islands Ferry will continue until after the Sept. 12 election and until the province can be approached for funds to subsidize a winter schedule, according to a delegation of Gulf Islanders who met officials of the department of highways in Victoria.

Winter schedules are under study, with the outer islands requesting two round-trips weekly. This would mean the retention of the Mv Delta Princess on the Fulford-Swartz Bay run.

Signalman C. E. Mawson of Campbell River, left Wednesday to join other Canadian army personnel serving with forces in the Congo.

LADYSMITH: A volunteer work crew consisting of members of the congregation poured a cement floor in the new basement section of First United Church here over the weekend. David Stringer was in charge.

The church is being renovated as funds become available.

Previously a cement-brick foundation had been put around the entire building.

The adjoining church hall is becoming overcrowded as the Sunday school enrollment increases year by year. It is planned to partition the new basement into furnace room and recreational rooms.

ALBERNI: Presentation of a B.C. lumber manufacturers achievement flag was made at McLean Lumber Company's sawmill in Cherry Creek district Thursday marking 77,000 accident-free hours.

Howard McLean, manager of the firm's operations, made the presentation of the flag to Kermit Green, a member of the sawmill's safety committee.

WOLFENBUTTEL: Wolfgang Schomberger, 14, of Duncan won a $100 bursary for his junior winning essay in the Pacific National Exhibition essay contest.

More than 20,000 students entered the contest.

FUNERAL SERVICES: were held on Aug. 25 in St. George's Church, Ganges, for Edwin Worthington who died suddenly on Aug. 22 at his home on Ganges Hill. Archdeacon G. H. Holmes officiated. Interment followed in St. Mark's cemetery.

Mr. Worthington, 64, was born in London, England. He lived in Canada for 50 years, the last four of which were spent on Salt Spring Island.

Active in horticultural circles he was recently elected as a Fellow of the Royal Horticultural Society of England. He was also active in the work of the Anglican Church and was a lay reader in St. George's Church, Ganges.

He is survived by his wife, at home; one son, W. A. E. Worthington, Laguna Beach, California; one daughter, Mrs. A. Enns, Williams Lake; one foster son, L. V. Drape, Cowichan Lake; a sister, Miss E. Worthington, Vancouver; two grandchildren.

Cadets Happy, Tanned

Tanned, healthy and happy to be home, about 75 Victoria army cadets swarmed ashore yesterday from the Princess Marguerite, back from annual camp at Vernon.

Reunions with welcoming families came first, then the boys made a beeline for home and "civvies."

"HOW WAS CAMP?"

How was the camp? "Wonderful!" "Hot!" "I hope I can go again next year."

These were typical answers gleaned from Canadian Scottish, PPCLI and RCEME cadets who were in too much of a hurry to get home to stay and talk long.

SCHOOL UNIT

L.Cpl. Nicholas H. Etheridge, 16, of 2630 Orchard, is a member of 170 Canadian Scottish, the University School unit.

"It was hot up there," he said, "but I heard it's been hot here, too. It got up to 110 at Vernon, but it's a dry heat. I enjoyed the whole thing."

LED CHORUS

The voice of Cpl. William A. Hollings, 3178 Douglas, of the RCEME cadets, led the chorus of "Civvies" when a group was asked what was next on their program.

Asked if he'd had much shop work, considering his unit, he said "No, we were all given infantry training."

STILL FEEL MOTION

Howard Cochrane, also 16, said he could still feel the motion of the boat, but he had a little way to go yet to get home. He lives at 3755 Duke Road, Albert Head.

Two senior NCOs of the RCEME cadets were sure they'd had the softest touch of all.

ENTIRE CAMP

WO2 Bill Randall, 3119 Orilla, and Staff-Sgt. Lorne E. Munro, 1506 Hillside, third-year campers both, spent the entire camp on a driver-mechanics course.

"We only had one parade turnout all camp."

Chemainus Worker Killed

CROFTON—Norman Urton, 22-year-old Chemainus man, was killed Thursday in an industrial accident at this south island pulp mill community.

Police said Urton was helping load pulp onto a freighter when a boom on the ship struck him on the head.

Director of UN Food Organization

He Won't See Olympic Games—Hungry People Come First

He lives in Rome, but he won't see the Olympics.

Instead, the tall, greying man with the quick warm smile is travelling the world doing a quiet but impressive job of making more food available for the millions who hunger.

Dr. Binay Ranjan Sen is in Victoria this weekend, en route to the World Forestry Conference at Seattle. As director-general of the Food and Agriculture Organization of the United Nations he represents the combined efforts of 88 nations to increase world food stocks.

Yesterday Dr. Sen sat in with the senior members of the provincial department of agriculture, setting out simply objectives of the FAO. To-day he meets with Deputy Forestry Minister R. G. McGee to learn something of the sustained yield forest program. Rome is his temporary home, Dr. Sen explains. He was born in Calcutta 62 years ago, educated at Oxford, and has spent 30 years in the Indian civil service, culminating in posts as ambassador to Italy, Yugoslavia and the United States, and as his country's representative to the United Nations Security Council.

... enthusiastic

A natural diffidence dissolves into warm animation when Dr. Sen is pressed about the work of the FAO. Not intimidated by the gigantic nature of the job he has been called upon to do (he travels six to seven months of each year) he is proud of the fact that his organization was the first to be brought into being by the UN, speaks with deep respect and affection of the FAO's first director-general, Sir John Boyd Orr, and praises the role that Canada and Canadians are playing in the fight against poverty.

The Olympics? He would love to be there but, well, there are all those hungry people.

No Summer Vacation in Sight for Busy Diefenbaker

OTTAWA (CP)—Prime Minister Diefenbaker apparently has set aside any thought of a personal summer vacation this year.

His office said he has booked engagements no more than 10 days apart that will carry him through what remains of the summer.

His only chance for a break is an extended Labor Day weekend covering the first six or seven days of September. But no holiday plans have been made, his office said.

When Parliament prorogued Aug. 10, Mr. Diefenbaker told reporters he had no plans for a vacation trip until after his cabinet colleagues had a chance to spend some time holidaying.

Mr. Diefenbaker has been at his office every weekday and on some Saturdays since then. He has worked weekends at the prime minister's summer residence at Harrington Lake, 18 miles north of the capital.

Cabinet meetings have been held only on the last two Wednesdays, and one is scheduled for next Tuesday.

A fall opening of the 1961 session of Parliament—likely on Oct. 31—now is being planned to get a head-start on next year's legislative program and committee work. While enough government legislation now is ready to make a busy start for the new session, more bills will be before cabinet for pre-session study in the weeks ahead.

Mr. Diefenbaker verbally accepted an invitation from former premier Kishi to visit Japan this autumn, and the invitation was renewed verbally by the government that succeeded the Kishi administration when it resigned after President Eisenhower's Far Eastern trip.

One of Mr. Diefenbaker's favorite pastimes, in which he has not been able to engage since taking office as prime minister in June, 1957, is duck hunting in northern Saskatchewan—or, for that matter, anywhere. In the absence of a summer vacation, Mr. Diefenbaker probably is quite aware of the fact the duck hunting season opens here on Sept. 24 and in northern Saskatchewan on Sept. 12.

U.S. Breaks Ties In Campaign Against Trujillo

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The U.S. Friday broke off diplomatic relations with the Dominican Republic, the first time in 42 years it has taken such action against a hemispheric neighbor.

Car Strikes 87-Year-Old

An 87-year-old pedestrian suffered a broken hip at mid-night last night when he was struck by a car at Oak Bay Avenue and Elgin.

Police said Robert Gordon, 2091 Byron, was crossing Oak Bay in the crosswalk when he was hit by the car driven by David Milne, 1007 St. Louis.

Two witnesses told police they were crossing Oak Bay nearby when the driver approached them and slowed down.

"He was watching us cross and probably didn't see the man who was actually in the crosswalk beyond us," they said.

The action followed last week's decision by the Organization of American States that all member countries should sever relations with the regime of dictator Rafael Trujillo.

The aim is to force Dominican reform or lead to Trujillo's downfall. Relations can't be restored until two-thirds of the 21 OAS members vote that the Dominican regime has reformed.

The U.S. recalled about 40 members of its embassy in Ciudad Trujillo and requested that the Dominican mission here go home.

The state department is considering further economic sanctions against the Trujillo regime. Congress may cancel an increase in the republic's sugar quota granted last month after Cuba's sugar imports were reduced.

Chile and El Salvador took similar action while Brazil delayed its move for a few days. America last broke relations with a Latin American country in 1918, following a coup in Costa Rica.

Child Murderer Was Fugitive From Institution

CALGARY (CP)—Convicted murderer Ronald McCorquodale was a fugitive from a Manitoba mental hospital when he bludgeoned 10-year-old Lynne LeFurgey to death in a church basement last Nov. 19, according to reports here.

The Calgary Albertan says McCorquodale escaped from the Selkirk, Man., institution in 1953, was never recaptured, and later was written off by hospital authorities as "discharged" and harmless.

When McCorquodale was tried last May for the murder of the Calgary girl his record included the "discharge" from Selkirk but no mention was made of his escape.

The informant said McCorquodale, then 18, was in his fourth year of indefinite confinement when he escaped from the hospital.

NEVER INFORMED
McCorquodale eventually ended up in Alberta at a mental hospital in Ponoka. Ponoka authorities never were informed of his escape from Selkirk.

The Albertan also said it was inconceivable the federal cabinet did not know an appeal against McCorquodale's death sentence had been filed and a reprieve granted before the cabinet commuted the death sentence last Friday to life imprisonment. The commutation came less than a week before the originally-scheduled hanging date, Aug. 24.

NOT BEEN INFORMED
This possibility—that the cabinet had not been informed of the motion of appeal and reprieve to Dec. 14—came to light Friday in Calgary when Sheriff G. F. Butterwick told a press conference notices of neither had been sent to the secretary of state as directed in capital cases procedure.

Sheriff Butterwick indicated that "it may well have been" his responsibility to inform the secretary of state.

Tunisians Asked to Get Out, Canadians Stalled in Congo

LEOPOLDVILLE (CP)—The Canadian army planned Friday to bring back to Leopoldville a four-man advance signal corps party sent to Luluabourg, where tension is growing between UN troops and the Congolese army. (See also Page 5.)

ASKED TO GO
The Canadians, quartered in a camp occupied by Tunisian UN troops, were unable to prepare for the establishment of a communications station

because of tough Congolese control.

The Congolese plan to move into the Tunisians' camp and have asked them to get out. The UN commander in Luluabourg asked that no equipment be sent in and prepared to fly out the Canadians as soon as possible.

Meanwhile, a U.S. Globemaster, flying additional men and equipment from Trenton, Ont., was more than 36 hours overdue and unreported since it left Canada.

NOT CONCERNED
Air force officials in Ottawa, not yet concerned, said Globemasters often are not heard from for up to 48 hours, depending on their route.

Another four-man advance party of Canadians in Stanleyville found it touch-and-go in their relations with the Congolese. However, the situation now is reported to have improved and the party has been able to start work on communications.

PROVOST CORPS
Nine Canadian provost corpsmen reached Leopoldville Friday to join an international provost company. It will also include 19 Indians and 11 Danes.

Mile of Lava Slides Along Alaska Valley

KODIAK, Alaska (AP)—Purplish-black lava covered a mile-long 300-yard-wide strip in the valley of 10,000 Smokes Thursday, after old Katmai Mountain began sending up signals again.

In the third volcanic eruption in the area in the last two weeks, mushroom-shaped clouds were puffed from "e" mountain every 15 minutes.

Wind carried smoke and dust in a southwesterly direction down the Alaska Peninsula.

Last Monday, an eruption, believed to have been from Mount Trident, sent clouds of smoke and ash 30,000 feet high and blocked out the sun as far away as Kodiak, 150 miles southeast.

Bennett Tells Crowd

By IAN STREET

Premier Bennett told a capacity audience at the Royal Theatre last night "hundreds of millions" of investment dollars that mean new jobs will pour into British Columbia if Social Credit is returned "with a big vote" Sept. 12.

In his two-hour address, which ranged from a rambling discourse on the achievements of Social Credit over the past eight years to a violent, arm-waving attack on opposition and press critics, the premier made these points:

● The attendance of some 1,460 plus an estimated 200 turned away for lack of seating accommodations shows Victoria needs a new civic auditorium.

● Social Credit is the "largest spark plug to the economy" of any provincial government in Canada.

● Wenner-Gren interests have "never been given a single concession and never will as long as I'm premier."

● The controversial Bill 43 has brought about less strife between labor and management than at any time before in the history of this province.

● Power potential of the Peace River is the only one of four major B.C. sources of hydro power that can be developed in the near future.

● He accused critics of his government of having "no faith in the future of this great country" and lashed out at what he termed the "critics who sit in the scuffer's seat with a pen trying to find new words to hold back development of this province."

● He produced documents to back his statements and tossed them from the stage after inviting members of the audience to "take them and see for yourself."

At the end of his lengthy address the premier still had a full head of steam. But many members of the audience were willing in the stuffy atmosphere of the theatre, several dozen left before the end and even some of the party faithful on stage stifled yawns and glanced at their watches.

"There's a great deal more I'd like to tell you," said Mr. Bennett. "But time unfortunately doesn't permit. I would say to you all, if you believe

Views Clash

Soviet-China Feud Flares

LONDON (Reuters)—A Soviet authority Friday warned against any Communist attempts to "export revolution" to African, Asian and Latin-American countries.

The warning highlighted a new clash of views between Moscow and Peking on the Chinese-backed theory that war with the imperialist countries is inevitable.

Soviet academician E. Zhukov, an expert on Asian affairs, issued the warning in the Communist party newspaper Pravda. He was speaking for the peaceful co-existence policy being pushed by Premier Khrushchev despite objections from Chinese Communist leader Mao Tse-tung. Zhukov blasted "hopeless dogmatists" who believe peaceful coexistence is delaying liberation movements in colonial countries.

It appeared from Zhukov's attack that the Chinese have criticized Russia's willingness to support non-Communist leaders of newly-independent nations. He implied Communist China wants to use colonial independence struggles to foment revolutions in each emerging colony.

Zhukov bitterly criticized those who "sniffed" at non-Communist liberation movements.

New Notions

South Africa to End 'Emergency' Aug. 31

PRETORIA (Reuters)—Justice Minister Francois Erasmus announced Friday the 150-day state of emergency in South Africa will end Aug. 31.

More than 10,000 persons have been detained under the emergency laws imposed March 30, nine days after 67 Negroes were killed in riots at Sharpsville.

Most of the detainees have been released and the remainder is impossible to ascertain.

der are expected to be freed when the state of emergency ends in five days.

Erasmus said the state of emergency is no longer necessary for the maintenance of law and order.

The Johannesburg Star said Oct. 5 on the question of creating a republic.
